

26-2-2019 poetry #1 - Characteristics of modern poetry

- The first world war and the second world war had a great effect on man. When we come to talk about types of poetry and themes of poetry, what are the themes that poets, or ages of poetry dealt with all eras? starting from the Elizabethan time, and the themes they used to concentrate on, and passing by romanticism, metaphysical, and Victorian, all the poets in general dealt with nature, with the metaphysical world, with incidents other than man.
- But, in the modern age, people or poets in general felt that it is their responsibility and they have to put it upon their shoulders that the main theme of their poetry should be man, and how to salvage man, how to get man out of his misery, chaos, difficulties.
- The first and second world wars had a great effect on the mentality, psychology of man. So, the result of these two wars, in addition to the rise of Mussolini in Italy and Hitler in Germany, they are considered to be tyrants and dictators. When we witness a dictator for example, that dictator will turn our life to misery, to bad conditions. This is the way they changed the lives of the people in general into misery. Their main aim in life is to rule using fire, humiliation.
- Poets felt that it is their responsibility to side with man. Man has become a victim to these two wars. Man has become homeless, lonely, searching for an escape from this life. Most of the themes of modern poems are likely to revolve around man.
- In this course, we will discuss modern poetry in general, and before that we are going to discuss the Victorian poetry, Victorian and Modern together. We will leave the Victorian poetry for later and for now talk about characteristics of modern poetry.

- Characteristics of modern poetry. This will be the first question on the exam.

- Simplicity: Modern poetry is characterised as being simple. The language is very simple because the modern poet wants to guarantee that his message reaches the common man, the man who is helpless, victim of war, lonely, unemployed and persecuted. It is not directed to the elite or the educated. It suits the simple, common man.

- Ambiguity: Sometimes the modern poet uses ambiguous language or themes for one reason or another. This is done because the modern poet does not want the enemies of modern man to know the secret messages of the poet. The true meaning is clear to the poet and the modern man but not to the enemies of modernism.
