Intentional Acts and Institutional Facts Savas L. Tsohatzidis, 2007-06-17 Savas L. Tsohatzidis John Searle is famous for his contributions to two fields with long and distinguished traditions within analytic philosophy the philosophy of language and the philosophy of mind but his interests and achievements extend beyond these fields From the early 1990s he has added to his research agenda a theme that was not only largely new to his philosophical preoccupations but also largely absent from the concerns of analytic philosophy as a whole the systematic examination of the mode of being of a particular kind of facts institutional facts that appear to be no less objectively knowable than ordinary physical facts yet seem to be essentially dependent for their existence on the subjectivity of human minds to recall one of his favourite examples one can know that something is a piece of paper as objectively as one can know that it is a twenty dollar bill but something s being a piece of paper does not depend on anyone s taking it to be a piece of paper whereas its being a twenty dollar bill crucially depends on a lot of people taking it to be a twenty dollar bill Searle s attempt to give a systematic account of the combination of epistemic objectivity and ontological subjectivity that in his view characterizes institutional facts has led to a full blown theory that he presented in his 1995 book The Construction of Social Reality and further developed in his 2001 book Rationality in Action
