Price,2005-04 Trembling once more Garrison turned the key and the box opened All that he found within was a stack of old papers a ring an old piece of flint and a candle He looked at the ring and it was plain but for a single four pointed star and crescent moon emblazoned upon it He then turned his candle to the stack of papers and saw etched upon their cover sheet his father s rose insignia Trembling mind now years and distances away from this place within the dancing candlelight he began to read My dearest Perrion how grey it always seems here as if nothing moves It seems as if this silly job I ve taken with the circus with the bears is but for thoughts of you my only joy Oh I m sorry for this Forgive me mine love and accept this it is my ring and signet I shall not be going back ever and so I give it too along with mine heart to you In Winter Dreams author B Charles Price tells a tale of the reality beyond the fantasy through a beautiful depiction of the illusion John

Henry: Roark Bradford's Novel and Play Roark Bradford, 2008-10-23 Roark Bradford's 1931 novel and 1939 play dealing with the legendary folk hero John Henry both titled John Henry were extremely influential in their own time but have since then been nearly forgotten. Steven C. Tracy has united these hard-to-find works in a single critical edition that helps contextualize and revive both texts. An expansive introduction explores Bradford's life, recounts critical responses to his works, and surveys John Henry's pervasive influence in folk literary and popular culture. The volume also features a wide array of supplementary materials, including a selected bibliography and discography, transcriptions of folksong texts and recordings available during the 1930s, and a chronology of the lives of both Bradford and Henry. As Tracy's introduction makes clear, such a consideration of Bradford set in the context of writers both black and white, drawing upon African American folklore and using dialects along with stereotypical and non-stereotypical portrayals, is long overdue. This new edition is a windfall for scholars and students of folklore and African American literature.

Up in Mahaica G. Modele "Dale" Clarke, 2012-07 Up in Mahaica Stories from the Market People is a collection of short stories about unusual characters in an oil refinery in southern Trinidad. They scheme against each other and resort to obeah to win affection or to avenge real or imagined offenses. And through it all, most residents secretly want to abandon the poverty of their post-colonial existence and escape to the middle-class mirage the oil company created up in Mahaica. The open-air market vendors, the only ones not beholden to the British company, hold the community's secrets.
