migration in the face of decliningurban economic opportunities The empirical core of the book illustrates these trends through a detailed examination of the case of Zimbabwe based on the author's longstanding research on Harare The political and economic changes in Zimbabwe since the 1980s transformed Harare from one of the best African cities to live in over this period to one of the worst Harare citizens livelihoods exemplify in microcosm the central theme of the book the re invention of circulation and rural urban links in response to economic change Deborah Potts is a Senior Lecturer in the Geography Department of King's College London She works in the broad research field of urbanization and migration in sub Saharan Africa particularly southern Africa and has conducted research on these themes in Harare in Zimbabwe since 1985 Southern Africa South Africa Botswana Lesotho Swaziland Namibia and Zimbabwe University of Cape Town Press PB

Urban Growth and Land Degradation in Developing Cities Roy Maconachie, 2016-02-11 The peri urban interface in poor countries is frequently an area of great dynamism and a focus of competition for basic resources In Nigeria peri urban livelihood strategies have become an increasingly important survival mechanism in the context of rapid urban growth This book uses an innovative combination of methodologies from both the natural and social sciences to examine recent developments in and around the city of Kano in northern Nigeria and in doing so provides insights into the sustainability of these livelihood strategies Identifying some of the most significant forces that are currently shaping the process of peri urban change it argues that despite the adoption of creative and ingenious strategies by many farmers urban growth is having a considerable effect on the livelihood resilience of individuals households and communities. The findings presented in this book have much wider relevance and are transferable to other burgeoning Third World cities where increased pressures on urban hinterlands have intensified contests amongst various actors made access to resources much more difficult and made traditional smallholder mechanisms of adaptation and resilience increasingly challenging Single women, land and livelihood vulnerability in a communal area in Zimbabwe Gaynor Gamuchirai Makura-Paradza,2023-09-04 There has been limited research on single women in customary tenure areas Single women s experiences have been marginalized in research that focuses on notions of property male headed domestic units and relies on normative research methods to investigate resource access in the communal farming areas of Zimbabwe This work focuses on the hearth hold as a domestic unit and uses innovative research methods to investigate how women outside the marriage institution negotiate access to land livelihood resources and make decisions to cope with livelihood vulnerability in customary tenure areas The research illustrates through a focus on pathways and rural urban connections how single women make decisions to secure livelihoods under fast changing conditions The findings that patriarchy is only one but not the only institution governing land access in customary tenure areas and that women have more room to negotiate land access in communal areas especially through entitlements family obligations and exploitation of multi layered tenure systems are some of the publication s contribution to knowledge on single women customary land tenure and livelihood vulnerability Rural-Urban Dynamics Jytte

Agergaard, Niels Fold, Katherine Gough, 2009-09-11 It has increasingly been recognised that rural and urban areas are inextricably interlinked This book adopts a fresh approach to the issue of rural urban dynamics through a study of the changing nature of livelihoods mobility and markets in ten study sites across four countries of Africa and Asia Building on detailed fieldwork conducted in Ghana Tanzania Vietnam and Thailand the authors explore how settlements and livelihoods are being transformed as long term inhabitants and recent migrants embrace new economic activities many of which are linked to global markets The book is structured around the concept of frontier which is conceptualized as being a dynamic space where the forces of economic demographic and social change are brought to bear The study sites include agricultural frontiers coffee cocoa pineapples and fresh fruit handicraft and manufacturing frontiers and mining frontiers gold and diamonds In all of the cases global value chain dynamics have played a pivotal role in shaping local livelihoods Some settlements are developing into new urban centres whilst others are suffering from a boom and bust experience due to the unreliability of export markets. The similarities and differences between the frontier settlements are drawn out by comparing frontiers of similar types and by highlighting the theoretical and policy implications of the findings from all the frontier types The originality of the book lies in its combination of conceptual clarity methodological coherence and empirical richness By combining detailed empirical findings with theoretical insight from debates on livelihoods global value chains mobility patterns settlement dynamics and rural urban relations the book sheds new light on these issues within an overall framework of development trajectories in Africa and Asia Given scholars and international agencies current interest in the spatial dimensions of economic development this contribution is particularly timely with its fresh geographical approach to development issues this book is a pertinent and authoritative read for anyone researching or learning in the field of Renewing Development in Sub-Saharan Africa Deryke Belshaw, the late Arthur Ian Livingstone, 2005-06-29 development Renewing Development in Sub Saharan Africa reviews the debates and brings together specialist contributions to provide a clear guide to the major complexities of African development They lay the foundation for designing a range of individual country specific policy sets in which the strategic components are prioritized according to each country's constraints and opportunities The emphasis of the book is on the identification of effective strategies that will enable individual countries to most effectively exploit their growth opportunities and to meet poverty reducing and other key equity objectives

Farewell to Farms Deborah Fahy Bryceson, Vali Jamal, 2019-05-23 First published in 1997 this volume asks whether Africa's future is necessarily rooted in peasant agriculture The title of this book Farewell to Farms is deliberately intended to challenge the widely held view that Africa is the world's reserve for peasant farming African rural populations are themselves moving away from a reliance on agriculture De agrarianisation takes the form of urban migration as well as the expansion of non agricultural activities in rural areas providing new income sources occupations and social identities for rural dwellers Using recent continent wide case study evidence the authors assess the impact of de agrarianisation on household welfare business performance and national development Their findings which reveal new economic trajectories and social patterns emerging from a period of accelerated change call into question assumptions about Africa's future place in the world division of labour Economies in Turmoil Arni Sverrisson, Meine Pieter Van Dijk, 2000-07-14 The main theme is how local economic cultures and economic networks in the South and in Eastern Europe are put under strain by global deregulation and how traditional and not so traditional but locally rooted structures of economic life adjust to deregulation or fail to do so All the contributions written by different authors combine a flexible specialization in clusters approach with original empirical data An Introduction and a concluding chapter by the editors brings out the common issues and conclusions Violence and Democratization in Indonesia Gerry van Klinken, 2007-01-24 Through close scrutiny of empirical materials and interviews this book uniquely analyzes all the episodes of long running widespread communal violence that erupted during Indonesia's post New Order transition Indonesia democratised after the long and authoritarian New Order regime ended in May 1998 But the transition was far less peaceful than is often thought It claimed about 10 000 lives in communal ethnic and religious violence and nearly as many as that again in separatist violence in Aceh and East Timor Taking a comprehensive look at the communal violence that arose after the New Order regime this book will be of interest to students of Southeast Asian studies social movements political violence and ethnicity Small Business Management in Cross-Cultural Environments Per Lind, 2013-03-01 Products and services created by small and medium sized organizations account for the vast majority of economic activity across the globe These organizations will prove vitally important to the emerging and developing economies that will shape future decades Small Business Management in Cross Cultural Environments is one of very few books to take the cross cultural context as an opportunity to analyse and discuss the key concepts of small firm management in different parts of the world This textbook covers important topics such as the global economic development process entrepreneurship the role of government SME growth and collaborations in a global context By explaining how culture shapes and conditions the reality of small businesses and how organizational theories and models fail as management tools this book fills a significant gap Supplemented by a compendium of compelling case studies drawn from across the world and based upon 25 years of international research by the author Small Business Management in Cross Cultural Environments is a useful guide for students and practitioners of SME and International Management

Development Economics and Social Justice John Thoburn, 2017-11-28 Professor Ian Livingstone is one of a small group of British development economists who have achieved international renown and recognition The objective of this book is to pay tribute to his life s work particularly those aspects which related to key but challenging development issues These issues include at a broad level the understanding of the economic forces determining the development of low income economies more detailed micro work on agricultural development irrigation in particular decentralisation and local government finance small scale enterprises and large scale manufacturing development Themes running through his work relate to his over riding concern for rigour and for socio economic justice Ian Livingstone consistently used the traditional tools of economic analysis as a means to increase understanding of development issues in a way which was itself just as radical as the contributions of political scientists and sociologists This volume has been produced with similar aims
