First Ladies and the Press Maurine H. Beasley, 2005-12 Looking at the personal interaction between each first lady from Martha Washington to Laura Bush and the mass media of her day Maurine H Beasley traces the growth of the institution of the first lady as a part of the American political system Presidential Temples Benjamin Hufbauer, 2005 This book explores the visual and material cultures of presidential commemoration memorials and monuments libraries and archives and the problematic ways in which presidents themselves have largely taken over their own commemoration The author sees these various commemorative sites as playing a key role in the construction of our collective political and cultural self images and as another sign of our preoccupation with celebrity culture Ultimately he contends these presidential temples reflect not only our civil religion but also the extraordinary expansion of executive authority and presidential self commemoration since FDR Smithsonian Research Opportunities Smithsonian Institution. Office of Education and Training, 1967 Inventing a Voice Molly Meijer Wertheimer, 2004 Inventing a Voice is a comprehensive work on the lives and communication of twentieth century first ladies Using a rhetorical framework the contributors look at the speaking writing media coverage and interaction and visual rhetoric of American first ladies from Ida Saxton McKinley to Laura Bush The women's rhetorical devices varied some practiced a rhetoric without words while others issued press releases gave speeches and met with various constituencies All used interpersonal or social rhetoric to support their husbands relationships with world leaders party officials boosters and the public Featuring an extensive introduction and chapter on the First Lady as a Site of American Womanhood Wertheimer has gathered a collection that includes the post White House musings of many first ladies capturing their reflections on public expectations and perceived restrictions on their communication Governing Codes Karrin Vasby Anderson, Kristina Horn Sheeler, 2005-08-23 Familiar narratives and simplistic stereotypes frame the representation of women in U S politics Pervasive containment rhetorics such as the distinction between women as mothers and caregivers and men as rational thinkers create unique hurdles for any woman seeking public office While these governing codes generally act to constrain female political power they can also be harnessed as a resource depending on the particular circumstances e g party affiliation geographic location and personal style One of these governing codes the metaphor is an especially powerful tool in politics today particularly for women By examining the political careers of four of the most prominent and influential women in contemporary U S politics_Democrats Ann Richards and Hillary Rodham Clinton and Republicans Christine Todd Whitman and Elizabeth Dole_Karrin Vasby Anderson and Kristina Horn Sheeler illustrate how metaphors in public discourse may be both familiar narratives to embrace and boundaries to overturn
