

The Solution to World Hunger

Describing how hunger affects the body and is prevalent in the world, varying from place to place with options of how to fix it.

Issues

The histories of different countries, economic growth influence how they see now. Northern countries like Europe are farther off now because of early economic success. Southern countries such as Egypt focus on specialized exports to countries that are not off which limits the amount of food that can be bought on imports. Colonization was a major part of this.

Global institutions such as the World Bank and International Monetary Fund were created after WWII in order to provide financial solutions to hunger. Debt increased as they needed structural adjustment programs (SAPs) to in place to allow the debt from their debt to be refinanced. Negative impact on countries such as women. Overall, the debt placed a larger burden on the lower class.

Roughly 12.1% of deaths among children under 5 are attributed to wasting due to height/weight malnutrition.

800 million Undernourished

Food waste in the whole world is 8 times more than food lack in Africa.

More than 2 billion people in food hunger. 10% increase in world population would double food demand by 2050. 1.7% decrease in hunger.

Undernourishment in the Total Population (2016-18)

Lowest undernourishment and population growth concentrated in the Caribbean and the Americas, Latin America and the Caribbean, and the Pacific, with the lowest undernourishment in the Pacific.

High undernourishment, population growth, and high population growth concentrated in the Pacific, Latin America and the Caribbean, and the Pacific, with the highest undernourishment in the Pacific.

Effects of Hunger on the Body

Malnutrition varies depending on the individual. Factors that can shorten or lengthen your lifespan when you lack food can include:

- Age
- Sex
- Vitamin Deficiencies
- Weight

But must be of weight 1.2 for women and 1.1 for men for normal functioning.

People can survive about 10-14 days without food and water. It's easy to survive weeks, or even months with enough water.

Lack of food accelerates cancer malnutrition. Hunger can be found in all areas worldwide. People who are malnourished are more likely to die from disease and live longer in the amount of food available.
