Some Blood On The Landscape:

The Western Landscape in Cormac McCarthy and Wallace Stegner Megan Riley McGilchrist, 2012-06-25 The western American landscape has always had great significance in American thinking requiring an unlikely union between frontier mythology and the reality of a fragile western environment Additionally it has borne the burden of being a gendered space seen by some as the traditional virgin land of the explorers and pioneers subject to masculine desires and by others as a masculine space in which the feminine is neither desired nor appreciated Both Wallace Stegner and Cormac McCarthy focus on this landscape and environment its spiritual narrative symbolic imaginative and ideological force is central to their work In this study McGilchrist shows how their various treatments of these issues relate to the social climates pre and post Vietnam era in which they were written and how despite historical discontinuities both Stegner and McCarthy reveal a similar unease about the effects of the myth of the frontier on American thought and life The gendering of the landscape is revealed as indicative of the attempts to deny the failure of the myth and to force the often numinous western landscape into parameters which will never contain it Stegner's pre Vietnam sensibility allows the natural world to emerge tentatively triumphant from the ruins of frontier mythology whereas McCarthy's conclusions suggest a darker future for the West in particular and America in general However McGilchrist suggests that the conclusion of McCarthy's Border Trilogy upon which her arguments regarding McCarthy are largely based offers a gleam of hope in its final conclusion of acceptance of the feminine

Landscapes of Dread in Classical Antiquity Debbie Felton, 2018-04-27 Over the last two decades research in cultural geography and landscape studies has influenced many humanities fields including Classics and has increasingly drawn our attention to the importance of spaces and their contexts both geographical and social how spaces are described by language what spaces are used for by individuals and communities and how language use and the passage of time invest spaces with meaning In addition to this spatial turn in scholarship recent years have also seen an emotive turn an increased interest in the study of emotion in literature Many works on landscape in classical antiquity focus on themes such as the sacred and the pastoral and the emotions such spaces evoke such as respectively feelings of awe or tranquillity in settings both urban and rural Far less scholarship has been generated by the locus terribilis the space associated with negative emotions because of the bad things that happen there In short the recent emotive turn in humanities studies has so far largely neglected several of the more negative emotions including anxiety fear terror and dread The papers in this volume focus on those neglected negative emotions especially dread and they do so while treating many types of space including domestic suburban rural and virtual and while covering many genres and authors including the epic poems of Homer Greek tragedy Roman poetry and historiography medical writing paradoxography and the short story

Landscapes of Realism Svend Erik Larsen, Steen Bille Jørgensen, Margaret R. Higonnet, 2022-03-15 Few literary phenomena are as elusive and yet as persistent as realism While it responds to the perennial impulse to use literature to reflect on experience it also designates a specific set of literary and artistic practices that emerged in response to Western modernity Landscapes of Realism is a two volume collaborative interdisciplinary investigation of this vast territory bringing together leading edge new criticism on the realist paradigms that were first articulated in nineteenth century Europe but have since gone on globally to transform the literary landscape Tracing the manifold ways in which these paradigms are developed discussed and contested across time space cultures and media this second volume shows in its four core essays and twenty four case studies four major pathways through the landscapes of realism The psychological pathways focusing on emotion and memory the referential pathways highlighting the role of materiality the formal pathways demonstrating the dynamics of formal experiments and the geographical pathways exploring the worlding of realism through the encounters between European and non European languages from the nineteenth century to the present This volume is part of a book set which can be ordered at a special discount

Landscapes of the Soul Cyd Holsclaw, Geoff Holsclaw, PhD, 2025-08-05 Does it feel like you experience life in a totally different way than others Like you are living somewhere else and you can't build connection or intimacy with God like others can There's a good chance that you like so many of us have tried it all read your Bible more gone to church more prayed more and delved deeper into self awareness But you still struggle with discontent anxiety avoidance and doubt You still feel stuck No matter where you find yourself emotionally relationally or spiritually Jesus meets you there and helps you move toward a place of peace and rest As pastors coaches and educators Cyd and Geoff Holsclaw are very familiar with this struggle and they are prepared to help In Landscapes of the Soul they draw on the science and spirituality of attachment theory biblical wisdom and the language of spiritual formation to show us why Christians tend to get stuck spiritually and how to get unstuck and move forward Whether you feel like you're living in a spiritual jungle desert or war zone you will discover how you are designed to grow good roots through healthy relational attachment how things go wrong through your often distorted survival strategies how God repairs your faith hope and love for Him others and ourselves how Jesus quiets your anxious and avoidant faith how to incorporate practices for building your security with God You aren't meant to live in the anxiety of a jungle the desolation of a desert or the chaos of a war zone God designed you to live in joy and peace in relationship with Him as if you are in a pasture under the protective care of the Good Shepherd

British rural landscapes on film Paul Newland,2016-09-01 British rural landscapes on film offers insights into how rural areas in Britain have been represented on film from the silent era through both world wars and on into the twenty first century It is the first book to exclusively deal with representations of the British countryside on film The contributors demonstrate that the countryside has provided Britain and its constituent nations and regions with a dense range of spaces in which cultural identities have been and continue to be worked through British rural landscapes on film demonstrates that British cinema provides numerous examples of how national identity and the identity of the countryside have been partly constructed through filmic representation and how British rural films can allow us to further understand the relationship between the cultural identities of specific areas of Britain and the landscapes they inhabit

Population Biology of Vector-Borne Diseases John M. Drake,Michael Bonsall,Michael R. Strand,Michael Strand,2021 Population Biology of Vector Borne Diseases is the first comprehensive survey of this rapidly developing field The chapter topics provide an up to date presentation of classical concepts reviews of emerging trends synthesis of existing knowledge and a prospective agenda for future research The contributions offer authoritative and international perspectives from leading thinkers in the field The dynamics of vector borne diseases are far more intrinsically ecological compared with their directly transmitted equivalents The environmental dependence of ectotherm vectors means that vector borne pathogens are acutely sensitive to changing environmental conditions Although perennially important vector borne diseases such as malaria and dengue have deeply informed our understanding of vector borne diseases recent emerging viruses such as West Nile virus Chikungunya virus and Zika virus have generated new scientific questions and practical problems The study of vector borne disease has been a particularly rich source of ecological questions while ecological theory has provided the conceptual tools for thinking about their evolution transmission and spatial extent Population Biology of Vector Borne Diseases is an advanced textbook suitable for graduate level students taking courses in vector biology population ecology evolutionary ecology disease ecology medical entomology viral ecology evolution and parasitology as well as providing a key reference for researchers across these fields

Landscapes of Encounter Liam Gearon,2002 Brian Moore 1921 1999 is one of the few novelists whose literary portrayal of Catholicism effectively spans the period prior to and following the Second Vatican Council Many critics have discussed how Moore s life is reflected in his works while others have dismissed his fictions as simple narratives in the mould of classical realism In this timely book Gearon contends that Moore s fictions are far more complex as he was one of the great observers of Catholicism in all its modern and historical controversy
