Roberts, 2018-03-09 The dissemination of classical material to children has long been a major form of popularization with far-reaching effects although until very recently it has received almost no attention within the growing field of classical reception studies This volume explores the ways in which children encountered the world of ancient Greece and Rome in Britain and the United States over a century-long period beginning in the 1850s as well as adults' literary responses to their own childhood encounters with antiquity Rather than discussing the role of classics in education it focuses on books read for enjoyment and on two genres of children's literature in particular the myth collection and the historical novel The tradition of myths retold as children's stories is traced in the work of writers and illustrators from Nathaniel Hawthorne and Charles Kingsley to Roger Lancelyn Green and Ingri and

Edgar Parin D Aulaire while the discussion of historical fiction focuses particularly on the roles of nationality and gender in the construction of an ancient world for modern children The book concludes with an investigation of the connections between childhood and antiquity made by writers for adults including James Joyce Virginia Woolf and H D Recognition of the fundamental role in children s literature of adults ideas about what children want or need is balanced throughout by attention to the ways in which child readers have made such works their own The formative experiences of antiquity discussed throughout help to explain why despite growing uncertainty about the appeal of antiquity to modern children the classical past remains perennially interesting and inspiring The Brother-Sister Culture in Nineteenth-Century Literature V. Durée as Einstein-in-the-Heart Candice Lee Kent, 2024-03-29 Durée as Einstein in the Heart traces the trajectory of modernist interaction with Bergson and Einstein through the works of Virginia Woolf 1882 1941 and Mary Butts 1890 1937 It presents an overview of critical approaches that focus on time in Woolf's novels and that foreground Bergson in their analyses of Woolf It then examines how Woolf's formal experimentation and theorisation of time in Jacob's Room 1922 and Mrs Dalloway 1925 relates to Bergson's temporal theories This is followed by a discussion on the role Bergson's thinking played in the early formulation of Butts's ideas of time and an analysis of how Bergson's ideas emerge in the short story Angele au Couvent 1923 concluding by highlighting points of contrast in the engagements of Woolf and Butts The book then documents the growth of Butts's interest in Einstein's ideas and shows how she amalgamates these with Bergson's thinking in her journals and in the most intense of her fictional engagement with Einstein's ideas the novel Death of Felicity Taverner 1932 It discusses Butts's responses to the popular science genre and examines the important role played by J W N Sullivan and Arthur Eddington in the development of her understanding and interpretation of physics It concludes with a discussion of Butts's antisemitic characterisation of Kralin as purveyor of corrupted science in contrast with
