Current Issues in Clinical Psychology Gill Edwards,2012-12-06 Since 1980 clinical psychologists and other professionals have gathered in Merseyside each year for the Annual Merseyside Course in Clinical Psychology The aim of this annual event is to offer post qualification training and a forum for discussion in areas of current clinical interest Over the years the course has attracted national and international speakers and attenders of the highest calibre plus up to the minute reports on current research In August 1984 the course was held for the first time in the beautiful old city of Chester As always the papers were presented by leading clinicians and researchers in their respective fields once again this included several contributions from Merseyside psychologists Since 1981 the proceedings of this conference have been published as Current Issues in Clinical Psychology The present volume Volume 4 covers four major areas of current interest The Child and Therapy Rehabilitation Across the Specialties New Directions for Psychology and the Law and Addictive Behaviors Each of these areas must be relevant to the work of almost all clinical psychologists at various times The volume closely reflects the order and content of papers presented at the 1984 conference although it also includes one paper by Guliz Elal Lawrence written specially for this publication The 1984 conference was widely acknowledged to be another success both academically and socially and I hope that this volume fully conveys the interesting and stimulating ideas and information enjoyed by those who attended

Psychopharmacology Abstracts ,1977      The Health Consequences of Smoking ,1990      The Physiology of Psychological Disorders James G. Hollandsworth Jr.,2013-11-11 Explanations of abnormal behavior that emphasize the importance of physiological determinants of disorder are relatively unpopular among psychologists especially among those who work as clinicians in an applied setting The reasons for this are theoretical and historical as well as practical Physiology and its associated biological disciplines of bio chemistry pharmacology and genetics are traditionally more associated with medicine their use to underpin explanations and treatments of behavioral abnormality has consequently demanded knowledge to which most psychologists are not exposed and skills that are unavailable to them The dichotomy thus created between medical and psychological approaches has caused many psychologists to disregard physiological factors Even when the latter are recognized as important many psychologists have been unwilling to admit to the fact in the belief that by doing so they will commit themselves to an overly medical model of psychological disorder undermining what they see as preferred views of abnormality As I have become increasingly aware in following the progress of this book in the United States the theoretical issues in this debate have been further sharpened by professional rivalries present but less explicit on the European scene from which I write between medical and nonmedical health care workers regarding facilities for and approaches to the treatment of the mentally disturbed Faced with these divisions of interest psychologists have available two courses of action

Smoking David G. Gilbert, 2014-06-03 Personality psychopathology and emotional factors are intimately related to smoking yet there are few efforts to integrate relevant findings in these areas Taking a comprehensive current and detailed view this text develops an empirically based model that reflects the multi dimensional individual difference related causal paths associated with smoking and its reinforcing and affect modulating effects Starting with a review of models of smoking motivation this volume then goes on to discuss effect and emotion and the nature biological bias and relationships among personality temperament and psychopathology Other chapters focus attention on questions of when in whom and what mechanisms promote and reinforce smoking and tobacco use such as gender differences Utilising the findings of these chapters the integrative biopsychosocial STAR Model Of Smoking Effects And Motivation Is Presented And Its Implications are examined As the percentage of smokers in the general population decreases a growing number of those continuing to smoke will be even more difficult to reach Such individuals will benefit from the individualised and intensive interventions suggested here This text is intended to be of use to psychologists psychiatrists physicians epidemiologists sociologists and other health professionals
