The Wallwalkers' Concert

A cause tells why something happens.
The effect is what happens.

Part One

Read the story and then complete the cause and effect table.

Rita was thrilled when she heard that her favorite singing group, The Wallwalkers, would be giving a concert in her city. Since the concert was three months away, she had plenty of time to earn enough money to buy tickets. When she told her best friends about the concert, they became quite excited. Plans were quickly made to go to the concert together. Jane and her friends got babysitting jobs every weekend, and soon they had earned enough money for their concert tickets.

The day finally arrived when tickets went on sale. The girls got in line at the ticket office early because they wanted to get good seats for the concert. They knew The Wallwalkers were a very popular group so the concert tickets would sell out quickly. When they got to the ticket window, they bought tickets for seats that were all together. Since Rita and her friends were going to be sitting close to the stage, the concert would be far more fun for them.
