Song From An Empty Forest:

Songs of the Empty Place James F. Weiner, Don Niles, 2015-07-13 For 31 months between 1979 and 1995 James F. Weiner conducted anthropological research amongst the Foi people in Southern Highlands Province Papua New Guinea. This book contains the transcriptions, translations, and descriptions of the songs he recorded. The texts of women's sago songs, obedobora men's ceremonial songs, sorohabora, and women's sorohabora are included. Men turn the prosaic content of women's sago songs into their own sorohabora songs which are performed the night following large-scale inter-community pig kills called dawa. While women sing sago songs by themselves, men sing their ceremonial songs in groups of paired men. Women also have their own ceremonial versions of such songs. The songs are memorial in intent; they are designed to commemorate the lives of men who are no longer living. Most commonly, they do so by naming the places the deceased inhabited during his lifetime. These song texts and translations are introduced by Weiner. Ethnomusicologist Don Niles then brings together information about each type of song and considers these Foi genres in relation to those of neighbouring groups, highlighting aspects of regional performance styles. Consideration is also given to the poetic devices used in Papua New Guinea songs. Eighteen recordings illustrating the Foi genres discussed in this book are available for download. It remains uncertain how such songs may be affected by the major oil extraction project that has been undertaken in the region for more than two decades. This book will interest students of anthropology, ethnomusicology, linguistics, verbal art, aesthetics, and cultural heritage.

Song from the Forest Louis Sarno, 2015-04-07 As a young man, American Louis Sarno heard a song on the radio that gripped his imagination. With some funding from musician Brian Eno, he followed the mysterious sounds all the way to the Central African rain forest and found their source with the Bayaka Pygmies, a tribe of hunters and gatherers. Nothing could have prepared him for life among the Pygmies, a people legendary for their short stature and musical wealth. Sarno never left. Considered outwardly lazy by some, scrounging, and near alcoholic, the Pygmies Sarno met had seemingly lost all desire to hunt or make music. Only after he had lived with them for some time on a diet of tadpoles was he allowed to join them in the rain forest where they still live in relative harmony with nature. There, Sarno experienced the extraordinary beauty and spiritual sophistication of their culture and the supreme importance of music as the principal means by which they communicate with the rain forest and its magical spirits. Over the decades, Sarno has recorded more than 1,000 hours of unique Bayaka music. He is a fully accepted member of the Bayaka society and married a Bayaka woman. Permanently changed by his experience and captivated by a Bayaka culture, in Song from the Forest, Sarno has chronicled his attempt to protect the fragile existence of the Pygmies in an increasingly destructive world. Once when his son Samedi became seriously ill and Sarno feared for his life, he held his son in his arms through a frightful night and made him a promise: "If you get through this one day, I'll show you the world I come from. Now the time has come to fulfill his promise." In a new major documentary film, Sarno tells the story of the Bayaka as he travels with Samedi from the African rain forest to another jungle.
