harshness imposed by current school reform initiatives My Schoolhouse is a Ghost Town further challenges educators and parents to commit to activism as currently demonstrated by members of the Chicago Teacher Union and parent progressive organizations to fight for reform under this current system and create their own school models Otherwise more urban public schools along with black and brown teachers will become ghost as unrealistic demands continue to impact this great profession

Slavery, Fatherhood, and Paternal Duty in African American Communities over the Long Nineteenth Century Libra R. Hilde, 2020-10-01 Analyzing published and archival oral histories of formerly enslaved African Americans Libra R Hilde explores the meanings of manhood and fatherhood during and after the era of slavery demonstrating that black men and women articulated a surprisingly broad and consistent vision of paternal duty across more than a century Complicating the tendency among historians to conflate masculinity within slavery with heroic resistance Hilde emphasizes that while some enslaved men openly rebelled many chose subtle forms of resistance in the context of family and local community She explains how a significant number of enslaved men served as caretakers to their children and shaped their lives and identities. From the standpoint of enslavers, this was particularly threatening: a man who fed his children built up the master's property, but a man who fed them notions of autonomy put cracks in the edifice of slavery. Fatherhood highlighted the agonizing contradictions of the condition of enslavement, and to be an involved father was to face intractable dilemmas; yet many men tried. By telling the story of the often quietly heroic efforts that enslaved men undertook to be fathers, Hilde reveals how formerly enslaved African Americans evaluated their fathers, including white fathers, and envisioned an honorable manhood. The Concept of Self Richard L. Allen, 2001-04-01. The Concept of Self examines the historical basis for the widely misunderstood ideas of how African Americans think of themselves individually and how they relate to being part of a group that has been subjected to challenges of their very humanity. Constructing Social Reality Loretta Brunious, 2017-10-03. This book examines how black children who grow up in an impoverished environment construct their social reality and why this process is a particularly critical factor in their perception and creation of self. It argues that black disadvantaged children develop a lifestyle and adopt values based on an identity grounded in racism, inequality, violence, and poverty. Constructing Social Reality: Self Portraits of poor Black Adolescents makes a valuable contribution to the scholarship by investigating the phenomena of poverty from cognitive, linguistic, and experiential perspectives in the lives of disadvantaged black adolescents.
