Teaching Afro American History:

Teaching African-American History Robert L. Harris, 2001 CREC Guides for Teaching Afro-American History Capitol Region Education Council (Windsor, Conn.), 1971 Curriculum guide to teaching African American history and culture in grades 2-6 and a guide for integrating the African American experience into United States history for grades 7-12

Teaching Afro-American History Robert L. Harris, 1992 Teaching African and African American History In the Home, School, and Community Dr. Eva M. Doyle, 2023-11-13 The book My Journey of 45 Years Teaching African American History in the Home School and Community traces the author's life as an Educator, Historian and Community Activist with the goal of sharing little known facts about the contributions of African Americans to our nation and the world. Much of this history has been excluded from many textbooks. The readers will find this book to be biographical, informative and historical. The places, events, community projects and people featured here have contributed to a life-long journey of research and writing. It is the hope of this writer that this book will be used not only as a resource to learn more about the contributions of African Americans but as an incentive for readers to share their talents, knowledge and creativity to make a difference in the world. This is the 13th book in the Eye on History Series of publications designed to educate and inform readers on a variety of topics. For more information go to www.evamdoyle.com A Primer for Teaching African History Trevor R.

Getz, 2018-03-15 A Primer for Teaching African History is a guide for college and high school teachers who are teaching African history for the first time, for experienced teachers who want to reinvigorate their courses, for those who are training future teachers to prepare their own syllabi and for teachers who want to incorporate African history into their world history courses. Trevor R. Getz offers design principles aimed at facilitating a classroom experience that will help students navigate new knowledge, historical skills, ethical development and worldviews. He foregrounds the importance of acknowledging and addressing student preconceptions about Africa, challenging chronological approaches to history, exploring identity and geography as ways to access historical African perspectives and investigating the potential to engage in questions of ethics that studying African history provides. In his discussions of setting goals, pedagogy, assessment and syllabus design, Getz draws readers into the process of thinking consciously and strategically about designing courses on African history that will challenge students to think critically about Africa and the discipline of history. African American History Reconsidered

Pero Gaglo Dagbovie, 2010 This volume establishes new perspectives on African American history. The author discusses a wide range of issues and themes for understanding and analyzing African American history, the 20th century African American historical enterprise and the teaching of African American history for the 21st century. The SAGE Handbook of African American Education Linda C. Teaching Black History to White People Leonard N. Moore, 2021-09-14 Leonard Moore has been teaching Black history for twenty five years mostly to white people Drawing on decades of experience in the classroom and on college campuses throughout the South as well as on his own personal history Moore illustrates how an understanding of Black history is necessary for everyone With Teaching Black History to White People which is part memoir part Black history part pedagogy and part how to guide Moore delivers an accessible and engaging primer on the Black experience in America He poses provocative questions such as Why is the teaching of Black history so controversial and What came first slavery or racism These questions don t have easy answers and Moore insists that embracing discomfort is necessary for engaging in open and honest conversations about race Moore includes a syllabus and other tools for actionable steps that white people can take to move beyond performative justice and toward racial reparations healing and reconciliation African American History Lerner Publishing Group,2003-05-01 This theme unit introduces young readers to African American history through the life stories of real people Written in a story format these books focus on important events that show what kind of person the subject was and how he or she became famous The Canning Season a first person account of living with racism is also included in this theme unit Perspectives of Black Histories in Schools LaGarrett J. King,2019-11-01 Concerned scholars and educators since the early 20th century have asked questions regarding the viability of Black history in k 12 schools Over the years we have seen k 12 Black history expand as an academic subject which has altered research questions that deviate from whether Black history is important to know to what type of Black history knowledge and pedagogies should be cultivated in classrooms in order to present a more holistic understanding of the group s historical significance Research around this subject has been stagnated typically focusing on the subject s tokenism and problematic status within education We know little of the state of k 12 Black history education and the different perspectives that Black history encompasses The book Perspectives on Black Histories in Schools brings together a diverse group of scholars who discuss how k 12 Black history is understood in education The book s chapters focus on the question what is Black history and explores that inquiry through various mediums including its foundation curriculum pedagogy policy and psychology The book provides researchers teacher educators and historians an examination into how much k 12 Black history has come and yet how long it still needed to go Encyclopedia of African American History, 1896 to the Present Paul Finkelman,2009 Alphabetically arranged entries from A to C that explores significant events major persons organizations and political and social movements in African American history from 1896 to the twenty first century Interpreting African American History and Culture at Museums and Historic Sites Max A. van Balgooy,2014-12-24 In this landmark guide nearly two dozen essays by scholars educators and museum leaders suggest the next steps in the interpretation of African American history and culture from the colonial period to the twentieth century at history museums and historic sites This diverse anthology addresses both historical research and interpretive methodologies including investigating church and legal records using social media navigating sensitive or difficult topics preserving historic places engaging students and communities and strengthening connections between local and national history Case studies of exhibitions tours and school programs from around the country provide practical inspiration including photographs of projects and examples of exhibit label text Highlights include Amanda Seymour discusses the prevalence of false nostalgia at the homes of the first five presidents and offers practical solutions to create a more inclusive nuanced history Dr Bernard Powers reveals that African American church records are a rich but often overlooked source for developing a more complete portrayal of individuals and communities Dr David Young executive director of Cliveden uses his experience in reinterpreting this National Historic Landmark to identify four ways that people respond to a history that has been too often untold ignored or appropriated and how museums and historic sites can constructively respond Dr Matthew Pinsker explains that historic sites may be missing a huge opportunity in telling the story of freedom and emancipation by focusing on the underground railroad rather than its much bigger upper ground counterpart Martha Katz Hyman tackles the challenges of interpreting the material culture of both enslaved and free African Americans in the years before the Civil War by discussing the furnishing of period rooms Dr Benjamin Filene describes three micro public history projects that lead to new ways of understanding the past handling source limitations building partnerships and reaching audiences Andrea Jones shares her approach for engaging students through historical simulations based on the Fight for Your Rights school program at the Atlanta History Center A exhibit on African American Vietnam War veterans at the Heinz History Center not only linked local and international events but became an award winning model of civic engagement A collaboration between a university and museum that began as a local history project interpreting the Scottsboro Boys Trial as a website and brochure ended up changing Alabama law A list of national organizations and an extensive bibliography on the interpretation of African American history provide convenient gateways to additional resources

Blue Eyes on African-American History Philip J. Reiss, 2013-10-04 Until Bayard Rustin's lecture in the fall of 1962 no other person had brought author Philip Reiss so far toward gaining an understanding of what it was like for African Americans living as second class citizens in this nation which sponsors a pledge calling for liberty and justice for all The Rustin lecture became Reiss's point of departure on his quest to learn more fully of the African American experience it prompted him to become aware and to truly understand that the entire nation shared responsibility for the dilemma of deep seated injustices that African Americans constantly faced In Blue Eyes on African American History Reiss provides an account of a white professor's learning and teaching about African American history from 1970 to 1999 at a SUNY community college Reiss includes specifics of how and why he took on the challenge of teaching African American history and discusses the historical events he deems critical for understanding of that history His study relates the impact of economic exploitation facilitated by racism and how these twin evils are central to the African American historical narrative Along with factual history this volume intersperses some of Reiss's experiences as a young boy as a young adult serving in the military and as a professor teaching his course It provides unique insight into a turbulent time in America A Kid's Guide to African American History Nancy I. Embracing the Track of Phrase: An Mental Symphony within Teaching Afro American History

In a world taken by displays and the ceaseless chatter of quick communication, the melodic elegance and emotional symphony produced by the prepared term often disappear into the background, eclipsed by the relentless sound and disturbances that permeate our lives. Nevertheless, located within the pages of Teaching Afro American History a stunning fictional prize filled with natural emotions, lies an immersive symphony waiting to be embraced. Crafted by an outstanding musician of language, that fascinating masterpiece conducts readers on a mental trip, skillfully unraveling the concealed songs and profound influence resonating within each cautiously constructed phrase. Within the depths with this moving examination, we can discover the book is key harmonies, analyze its enthralling publishing model, and submit ourselves to the profound resonance that echoes in the depths of readers souls.
