Teaching Humanities In The Microelectronic Age:

Teaching Humanities in the Microelectronic Age Anthony Adams, Esmor Jones, 1983 Shows how microcomputers can be as valuable for teaching learning in the humanities as they are in mathematics science Teaching English Susan Brindley, 2020-10-07 This book offers an opportunity to engage with the debates in English teaching and to explore the viewpoints of writers who have contributed to those debates It provides invaluable introduction to the complexities of English to Novice English teachers The Study of Education Peter Gordon, 2019-05-20 The inaugural lectures published in this volume reflect the many changes which have taken place in the study of education between the late 1970s and the mid 1980s Changes in society are reflected in the lectures on special needs education and multicultural education and the contributions of educational administration and comparative education as a field of study Educational Technology N. Venkataiah, 1996 Technological Literacy and the Curriculum John Beynon, Hugh Mackay, 1992 World Yearbook of Education 1988 Duncan Harris, 2012-11-12 Published in the year 2005 World Yearbook of Education 1988 is a valuable contribution to Major Works Humanizing Technology Elisabeth Gerver, 2012-12-06 A few years ago a book of this type and style could not or would not have been written This is because until a few years ago no real in depth knowledge of computers and computerized equipment was at the disposal of those with a nonscience nonquantitative background Some people from other disciplines including business the arts and the social sciences had been working with such equipment but they had gone over and tended to be even more computer conscious than those whom they served It is only comparatively recently that people like Elisabeth Gerver with a firm arts and adult education background first of all became knowledgeable and then remained true to that background To her eternal credit Elisabeth Gerver when she became involved avoided being sucked into the world of the jargon or even that of the thinking of the computer scientists and the electronic engineers On the contrary she insisted that she was an educated woman dealing with other educated people and that they would all speak in the language of everyday discourse It worked One consequence of her experience and her thought is this remarkably lucid and readable book It will prove to be of immense value to many in the world of adult and community education But the beneficiaries will run beyond those sectors of society Other people with a nonscience nonquantitative background will surely find it of immense value in their early inevitably hesitant and faulty grappling with the world of new technology The Effective Teaching of History Ron Brooks, Mary Aris, Irene Perry, 2014-06-11 The Effective Teaching of History brings together the varied expertise of three experienced educationalists to provide a practical and invaluable guide for teachers and teachers in training who wish to teach history Key Stages 1 4 It covers a wide range of methods and resources for teaching national curriculum history and examines the role of history in schools and colleges in the 1990s Advances in Computer Assisted Learning P. R. Smith, 2014-05-23 Advances in Computer Assisted Learning contains selected proceedings from the CAL Symposium on Computer Assisted Learning held at the University of Nottingham in the UK in 1985 This book reviews advances in computer assisted learning in the areas of curriculum development visually handicapped and disabled students project work in schools television viewdata and video applications database applications and engineering education and training This monograph has 35 chapters and opens with a discussion on the computing aspects of interactive video focusing on the design and production of the software used to control the videodisc developed by the Open University in the UK The next chapter illustrates a variety of case studies whereby local viewdata has been exploited by both teachers and their pupils in different parts of Europe Attention then turns to the use of computer assisted communication in the education of the visually impaired the use of microcomputers in teaching electronics and theoretical considerations in selecting software for language arts This text will be of interest to educators and policymakers who want to implement computer technology in the classroom Young Learners and the Microcomputer Daniel Chandler,1984 Artificial Intelligence J R
