Teaching And Learning In Changing Times:

Changing Teachers, Changing Times Andy Hargreaves, 2001-01-01 The rules of the world are changing It is time for the rules of teaching and teachers work to change with them This is the challenge which Andy Hargreaves sets out in his new book on teachers work and culture in the postmodern world Drawing on his current research with teachers at all levels Hargreaves shows through their own vivid words what teaching is really like how it is already changing and why He argues that the structures and cultures of teaching need to change even more if teachers are not to be trapped by guilt pressed by time and overburdened by decisions imposed upon them Provocative yet practical this book is written for teachers and those who work with teachers and for researchers who want to understand teaching better in the postmodern age Changing Schools for Changing Times Kerry J. Kennedy, 2005 This book a statement of genuine concern on the state of the school curriculum in Hong Kong by a veteran educator forms a comprehensive account of current curriculum development implementation and interpretation Kennedy invites the reader to critically examine how local and global issues influence the way the Hong Kong curriculum has been constructed Against this theoretical background he maintains a clear practical focus on present policies of the educational authority and suggests a new curriculum in various fields This book sheds light on recent pressure for curriculum change and reform in Hong Kong offering fresh insights to those concerned with the state of education in both Hong Kong and cities around the world TEACHING IN CHANGING TIMES: THE COURAGE TO LEAD Linda Wallinger, Donald H. Wideen, Peter P. Grimm, 2013-05-13 Pressures for reform in teacher education have begun to take on the same sense of urgency as school reform Those faculties of education who have been strong advocates for change in the schools now find themselves the subject of similar pressures from governmental policy makers Attempts at change have taken place in many different countries and jurisdictions around the world This book details through a series of international vignettes how teachers are responding to the changing times and social contexts in which they do their work The authors hold the view that changes are inevitable in teacher education but what is not clear is who will control the changes and whether the end result will actually improve the preparation of teachers The theme of the book is that the reform of teacher education should be informed by intelligent debate and that any attempt to restructure teacher preparation should result from a careful reconceptualisation of its purposes and processes

The University of Crisis, 2021-10-18 This book began as a collection of papers presented at a conference entitled The Future Business of Higher Education held at Oxford University The contributions range from those who grapple with the question of what a University should do through those concerned with making Higher Education more efficient to some who were already planning for some technologically inevitable virtual future These disparate leanings led to inevitable conflict and a challenge in editing into book form In compiling and editing the chapters the editor has tried to preserve some of the diversity of opinion presented at Oxford By doing so it is apparent that some individual contributors would find unacceptable much of what others in the book have to say The traditionalists clash with the modernizers the Left with the Right Public with Private and the theorists with the practitioners It is this very divergence of philosophical opinion as to the future of Higher Education that makes this book such an enjoyable and stimulating read
