Intertextuality in the Tales of Rabbi Nahman of Bratslav Marianne Schleicher, 2007-06-30 Until 1806 Rabbi Nahman of Bratslav 1772-1810 disseminated his thoughts on redemption through homilies In 1806 however Nahman chose the genre of tales as an additional and innovative means of religious discourse An academic close reading of all of the tales known as Sippurey Ma'asiyot has not yet been undertaken As the first comprehensive scholarly work on the whole selection of tales and contrary to previous scholarship this book does not reduce the tales to biographical expressions of Nahman's tormented soul and messianic aspirations Instead it treats them as religious literature where the concept of intertextuality is considered essential to explain how Nahman defines his theology of redemption and invites his listeners and readers to appropriate his religious world view Novels and Tales by Göethe Johann Wolfgang von Goethe,1915

Works of Maurice Hewlett in Ten Volumes: New Canterbury tales Maurice Henry Hewlett,1905 Feeling Things

Stephanie Downes,Sally Holloway,Sarah Randles,2018 This interdisciplinary essay collection investigates the various interactions of people feelings and things throughout premodern Europe It focuses on the period before mass production when limited literacy often prioritised material methods of communication The subject of materiality has been of increasing significance in recent historical inquiry alongside growing emphasis on the relationships between objects emotions and affect in archaeological and sociological research The historical intersections between materiality and emotions however have remained under theorised particularly with respect to artefacts that have continuing resonance over extended periods of time or across cultural and geographical space Feeling Things addresses the need to develop an appropriate cross disciplinary theoretical framework for the analysis of objects and emotions in European history with special attention to the need to track the shifting emotional valencies of objects from the past to the present and from one place and cultural context to another The collection draws together an international group of historians art historians curators and literary scholars working on a variety of cultural literary visual and material sources Objects considered include books letters prosthetics religious relics shoes stone and textiles Many of these have been preserved in international galleries museums and archives while others have remained in their original locations even as their contexts have changed over time The chapters consider the ways in which emotions such as despair fear grief hope love and wonder become inscribed in and ascribed to these items producing emotional objects of significance and agency Such objects can be harnessed to create affirm or express individual relationships as for example in religious devotion and practice or in the construction of cultural communal and national identities The Folktale Stith Thompson,1977 As interest in folklore increases the folktale acquires greater significance for students and teachers of literature The material is massive and scattered thus few students or teachers have accessibility to other than small segments or singular tales or material they find buried in archives Stith Thompson has divided his book into four sections which permit both the novice and the teacher to examine oral tradition and its manifestation in folklore The introductory section discusses the nature and forms of the folktale A comprehensive second part traces the folktale geographically from Ireland to India giving culturally diverse examples of the forms presented in the first part The examples are followed by the analysis of several themes in such tales from North American Indian cultures The concluding section treats theories of the folktale the collection and classification of folk narrative and then analyzes the living folklore process This work will appeal to students of the sociology of literature professors of comparative literature and general readers interested in folklore Wishfulfillment and Symbolism in Fairy Tales Franz Ricklin,1915 Beneath the Eternal Sky
