Sleep and the Novel Michael Greaney,2018-04-04 Sleep and the Novel is a study of representations of the sleeping body in fiction from 1800 to the present day which traces the ways in which novelists have engaged with this universal indispensable but seemingly nondescript region of human experience Covering the narrativization of sleep in Austen the politicization of sleep in Dickens the queering of sleep in Goncharov the aestheticization of sleep in Proust and the medicalization of sleep in contemporary fiction it examines the ways in which novelists envision the figure of the sleeper the meanings they discover in human sleep and the values they attach to it It argues that literary fiction harbours on its margins a sleeping partner one that we can nickname the Schlafroman or sleep novel whose quiet absorption in the wordlessness and passivity of human slumber subtly complicates the imperatives of self awareness and purposive action that traditionally govern the novel

The Enchantments of Technology Lee Bailey,2010-10-01 In The Enchantments of Technology Lee Worth Bailey erases the conventional distinction between myth and machine in order to explore the passionate foundations concealed in technological culture and address its complex ethical moral and social implications Bailey argues that technological society does not simply disenchant the world with its reductive methods and mechanical metaphors then shape machines with political motives but is also borne by a deeper subversive undertow of enchantment Addressing examples to explore the complexities of these enchantments his thought is full of illuminating examinations of seductively engaging technologies ranging from the old camera obscura to new automobiles robots airplanes and spaceships This volume builds on the work of numerous scholars including Jacques Ellul and Jean Brun on the phenomenological and spiritual aspects of technology Carl Jung on the archetypal collective unconscious approach to myth and Martin Heidegger on Being itself Bailey creates a dynamic interdisciplinary postmodern examination of how our machines and their environments embody not only reason but also desires

Hassler, Clyde Wilcox, 1997 As the science fiction writer Frederik Pohl observes in the lead essay the contributors collectively find science fiction to be either implicitly or explicitly political by its very nature Rereading the Harlem Renaissance Sharon L. Jones, 2002-12-30 African American writers of the Harlem Renaissance generally fall into three aesthetic categories the folk which emphasizes oral traditions African American English rural settings and characters from lower socioeconomic levels the bourgeois which privileges characters from middle class backgrounds and the proletarian which favors overt critiques of oppression by contending that art should be an instrument of propaganda Depending on critical assumptions regarding what constitutes authentic African American literature some writers have been valorized others dismissed This rereading of the Harlem Renaissance gives special attention to Fauset Hurston and West Jones argues that all three aesthetics influence each of their works that they have been historically mislabeled and that they share a drive to challenge racial class and gender oppression The introduction provides a detailed historical overview of the Harlem Renaissance and the prevailing aesthetics of the period Individual chapters analyze the works of Hurston West and Fauset to demonstrate how the folk bourgeois and proletarian aesthetics figure into their writings The volume concludes by discussing the writers in relation to contemporary African American women authors
