task would be impossible. However, the current lack of knowledge about the politics, people, and projects of the NSS is unfortunate as it often appears that new scholars are reinventing the wheel due to their lack of knowledge about the history of the social studies field. The goal of this book then is to sample the projects and individuals involved with the New Social Studies (NSS) in an attempt to provide an understanding of what came before and to suggest guidance to those concerned with social studies reform in the future, especially in light of the standardization of curriculum and assessment currently underway in many states. The authors who contributed to this project were recruited with several goals in mind, including a broad range of ages, interests, and experiences with the NSS from participants during the NSS era through new young scholars who had never heard much about the NSS. As many of the authors remind us in their chapters, much has been written of the failure of the NSS. However, in every chapter of this book, the authors also point out the remnants of the projects that remain.

Educating About Social Issues in the 20th and 21st Centuries Vol 1 Samuel Totten, Jon Pedersen, 2012-04-01. Educating About Social Issues in the 20th and 21st Centuries: A Critical Annotated Bibliography is comprised of critical essays accompanied by annotated bibliographies on a host of programs, models, strategies, and concerns vis-à-vis teaching and learning about social issues facing society. The primary goal of the book is to provide undergraduate and graduate students in the field of education, professors of education, and teachers with a valuable resource as they engage in research and practice in relation to teaching about social issues. In the introductory essays, authors present an overview of their respective topics, e.g., The Hunt-Metcalf Model, Science Technology, Science, Genocide Education. In doing so, they address, among other concerns, the following key theories, goals, objectives, and the research base. Many also provide a set of recommendations for adapting and/or strengthening a particular model, program, or the study of a specific social issue. In the annotated bibliographies accompanying the essays, authors include those works that are considered classics and foundational. They also include research and practice-oriented articles. Due to space constraints, the annotated bibliographies generally offer a mere sampling of what is available on each approach, program, model, or concern. The book is composed of twenty-two chapters and addresses an eclectic array of topics, including but not limited to the following: the history of teaching and learning about social issues; George S. Counts and social issues; propaganda analysis; Harold Rugg's textbook program; Hunt and Metcalf's Reflective Thinking and Social Understanding Model; Donald Oliver James Shaver and Fred Newmann's Public Issues Model; Massialas and Cox Inquiry Model; the Engle-Ochoa Decisionmaking Model; human rights education; Holocaust education; education for sustainability; economic education; global education; multicultural education; James Beane's middle level education; integrated curriculum model; Science Technology Society (STS) addressing social issues in the English classroom; genocide education; interdisciplinary approaches to incorporating social issues into the curriculum; critical pedagogy; academic freedom; and teacher education.
