Michael Spector, M. David Merrill, Jan Elen, M. J. Bishop, 2013-07-03 The 4th edition of the Handbook of Research on Educational Communications and Technology expands upon the previous 3 versions providing a comprehensive update on research pertaining to new and emerging educational technologies Chapters that are no longer pertinent have been eliminated in this edition with most chapters being completely rewritten expanded and updated Additionally new chapters pertaining to research methodologies in educational technology have been added due to expressed reader interest Each chapter now contains an extensive literature review documenting and explaining the most recent outstanding research including major findings and methodologies employed The Handbook authors continue to be international leaders in their respective fields the list is cross disciplinary by design and great effort was taken to invite authors outside of the traditional instructional design and technology community Developing Technology-Rich Teacher Education Programs: Key Issues

Polly, Drew, Mims, Clif, Persichitte, Kay A., 2012-01-31 This book offers professional teacher educators a rare opportunity to harvest the thinking of pioneering colleagues spanning dozens of universities and to benefit from the creativity scholarship hard work and reflection that led them to the models they describe Provided by publisher Research and Supervision in Mathematics and Science Education John A. Malone, Bill Atweh, Jeffrey Northfield, Jeff Northfield, 2013-11-26 Research and Supervision in Mathematics and Science Education provides student researchers and their supervisors with information about both the essentials of planning conducting reporting and publishing qualitative research and the characteristics of quality supervision It is focused primarily for postgraduate research students in mathematics and science education and their supervisors It will also be of interest to students and faculty in other disciplines that use educational and sociological research paradigms The volume builds on two phenomena of recent years first the increasing momentum of postgraduate research in mathematics and science education and second the resulting need of those involved for knowledge about doing research and about engaging in quality supervision The decision to address both research and supervision in one volume is a response to the fact that faculty who supervise postgraduate research often are in need of resources covering not only aspects of project and thesis supervision but also the knowledge to assist students in research design especially in the qualitative field Drawing on recent research and practice the authors of the chapters in this book illustrate approaches and strategies that have been used successfully with and by postgraduate students The book also has a strong future orientation describing how postgraduate supervision and research will change as more and more students gain access to and make use of the vast array of technological resources now available A necessary and unique addition to books in the field of postgraduate research and supervision this volume s particular appeal stems from its practical approach its creative future perspective and the wide generalizability of the thinking and ideas it presents      Social Media in Disaster Response Liza Potts,2013-10-30 Social Media in Disaster Response focuses on how emerging social web tools provide researchers and practitioners with new opportunities to address disaster communication and information design for participatory cultures Both groups however currently lack research toolkits for tracing participant networks across systems there is little understanding of how to design not just for individual social web sites but how to design across multiple systems Given the volatile political and ecological climate we are currently living in the practicality of understanding how people communicate during disasters is important both for those researching solutions and for those putting that research into practice Social Media in Disaster Response addresses this situation by presenting the results of a large scale sociotechnical usability study on crisis communication in the vernacular related to recent natural and human made crisis this is an analysis of the way social web applications are transformed by participants into a critical information infrastructure in moments of crisis This book provides researchers with methods tools and examples for researching and analyzing these communication systems while providing practitioners with design methods and information about these participatory communities to assist them in influencing the design and structure of these communication systems
