Preparing Middle Level Educators for 21st Century Schools Penny B. Howell, Shawn A. Faulkner, Jeanneine Jones, Jan Carpenter, 2018-05-01 Over the last decade significant changes have occurred in how schools are organized how educators are prepared and certified how accreditation policies have shifted both curriculum and content as well as changes to the demographics of middle school classrooms This volume Preparing Middle Level Educators for 21st Century Schools Enduring Beliefs Changing Times Evolving Practices provides a review of current research focused on middle level educator preparation at all levels Our enduring beliefs about young adolescents have not changed e g need for developmentally responsive instruction caring adults who understand them and are prepared to teach them opportunities to explore their interests but the political and sociocultural climate of schools and schooling has In light of changing times this volume allows researchers and teacher educators to share research from their context and inform the evolving practices of educator preparation for the middle level The research presented in this volume is organized into three sections with an introduction provided for each The authors grounded their work in the Association for Middle Level Education s teacher preparation standards 2012 and tenets of This We Believe NMSA 2010 By doing so they examine topics that hold potential for meeting the learning needs of teachers and students in middle level schools The first section includes chapters from individuals working to ensure that the enduring beliefs of middle level education continue to guide the structures of their middle level teacher preparation programs The second set of chapters closely examines how changing times are shaping the work of teacher educators Finally the last section spotlights evolving practices that continue to develop in response to the changes impacting our classrooms schools and communities This text provides readers with researched based practices and information to help them continue the tradition of middle level teacher education The enduring beliefs of preparing teachers who understand respect and honor the many talents gifts and contributions of the young adolescent student will guide teacher educators as they respond to the changing times of education and the evolving practices of teachers teacher educators and schools

Middle Grades Curriculum Kathleen Roney,Richard P. Lipka,2013-05-01 High stakes testing standards and accountability politics is taking us away from the importance of the affective domain in curriculum development This critical learning domain is often an unrecognized and infrequently considered topic in the literature Through this book we extend the current knowledge base by addressing a curriculum model developed in the 1980s We add a 2012 knowledge base as we delineate the role of self perceptions in school related learning how middle level curriculum affects self perceptions and the type of curriculum planning which enhances self perceptions and improves learning in the cognitive affective and psychomotor domains The combination of sound psychological principles and practical teaching and curriculum suggestions with an empirical basis makes the book attractive to both higher education and local school professional libraries In the former it will serve as the primary text in graduate and advanced undergraduate middle level education programs and practices courses It might also be a primary text in courses or workshops in affective education or other experiences which emphasize affective values and self concept It also has potential as a supplementary text in undergraduate educational psychology courses At the in service level this book could be used as a workshop resource or as a professional reference for middle level teachers administrators curriculum workers and supervisors Our interest in young adolescents and their school setting coincides with the fourth edition of This We Believe NMSA 2010 The self enhancing school is characterized by from to statements for example from avoiding parents to working with parents Using theory and research we discuss the costs of staying in the from position and the benefits derived from moving to the to position By combining educational psychology and curriculum development we make a unique contribution to middle grades curriculum developers
