Teaching Adult English Language Learners Betsy Parrish, 2019 Teaching Adult Second Language Learners Heather MacKay, 1999 Teaching Adult Second Language Learners Heather MacKay, 1999 Teaching Adult English Language Learners: A Practical Introduction Paperback Betsy Parrish, 2019-08-01 Teaching Adult English Language Learners is the completely revised and updated second edition of Betsy Parrish's Teaching Adult ESL A Practical Introduction This valuable guide for both novice and experienced teachers outlines good teaching practice and draws on classroom examples to offer practical guidance grounded in the latest research on language teaching Addressing the diverse needs of adult English learners it provides ideas on how to prepare learners for the demands and opportunities of the 21st century

Teaching Adult English Language Learners Richard A. Orem, 2005 This resource brings together information about policy second language acquisition theory and research methods and materials for teaching adult English language learners program design and cross cultural issues that effect learning in adult ESL classrooms It also discusses the context within which adult ESOL instructors work and in which adult ESOL programs function The framework for this discussion of context draws from the developing framework of standards for teachers of adult learners under consideration by TESOL Teachers of English to Speakers of Other Languages Inc This book is designed for faculty and students in adult education graduate programs and other TESOL preparation programs at the undergraduate and graduate levels that target adult learners Other audiences are adult ESL program directors and policy makers as well as educators working in elementary and high school many of whom are connected to populations of adult learners through the parents of the children they serve The Cambridge Guide to Pedagogy and Practice in Second Language Teaching Jack C. Richards, Anne Burns, 2012-01-31 This collection of original articles provides an overview of key issues and approaches in contemporary language teaching

Teaching Adult Language Learners: Enhancing Personal Methodologies Ervin Kovačević, Kovačević, 2021-08-05 The book is originally intended for postgraduate students of applied linguistics and foreign language teachers who may have some unresolved dilemmas about foreign language education for adults It opens with a chapter about seven dominant perspectives on the learning process The book moves across the notions of adulthood adult learner adult education and principles of foreign the prefix second is interchangeably used language teaching methodology The final chapter is designed to help you reflect on your own inclinations towards embracing or rejecting novelties in teaching design Overall the first four chapters may appeal to a broad audience but the final three chapters may require a level of relevant experience and supplementary reading about issues in education and foreign language methodology This book can be read from cover to cover but it is not necessary to do so I encourage you to skip to chapters that you find relevant Every chapter has a few sections which I labeled Personal Notes where I tried to spare you the academic style and provide some opportunities for reflections by means of my personal experiences dilemmas observations and anecdotes The chapters also have Highlights which tend to sum up or emphasize key elements in the textbook's segments for which I assumed it would be necessary. Every chapter ends with a few Questions for Reflections and Discussions which are meant to motivate you to reexamine your understanding of the reviewed and proposed ideas.

Fossilization in Adult Second Language Acquisition Zhaohong Han, 2004. This book is a systematic attempt to address the issue of fossilization in relation to a fundamental question in second language acquisition research: why are learners/adults in particular unable to develop the level of competence they have aspired to in spite of continuous and sustained exposure to the target language, adequate motivation to learn, and sufficient opportunity to practice.

Adult Learning in the Language Classroom Stacey Margarita Johnson, 2015-09-17. This book explores connections between the fields of foreign second language teaching and adult learning. This interdisciplinary approach serves as a framework in order to understand the teaching methods that promote the deeper, more critical sort of language learning advocated by scholars and professional organizations; to understand how adult students learn and transform through language study; and to reinforce the immense value of beginning language courses. Johnson studies a classroom of adult language learners for one semester, exploring issues of motivation and perceived value for these short-term learners as well as touching on issues around intercultural communication teaching and learning. The book will be of interest to adult language teachers as well as researchers studying adult education and second language learning.

Identity Trajectories of Adult Second Language Learners Cristiana Palmieri, 2018-12-07. This book explores the motivations of adult second language L2 learners to learn Italian in continuing education settings in Australia. It focuses on their motivational drives, learning trajectories, and related dynamics of identity development triggered by the learning process. Central to the study are adult L2 learners who are still a largely under-researched and growing group of learners, and readers will gain a better understanding of the learning process of this specific group of learners and ideas for sustaining L2 adult learning motivation in continuing education settings. Furthermore, the book discusses the role played by the Italian migrant community in Australia in making Italian a sought-after language to learn. It explores how a migrant community may influence motivation and highlights and expands on the notion of L2 learning contexts showing the existence of sociocultural environments where second language learning trajectories are affected by the presence of migrant groups.

Teaching Adult Immigrants with Limited Formal Education Joy Kreeft Peyton, Martha Young-Scholten, 2020-07-07. Adult migrants who received little or no formal education in their home countries face a unique set of challenges when attempting to learn the languages of their new countries. Few adult migrants with limited or no literacy in their native languages successfully attain higher levels of literacy in their additional languages, even if they attain high levels of oral proficiency. This book, the result of a European and United States wide collaborative research project, aims to assist teachers working with adult migrants to address this attainment gap and help students reach the highest possible levels of literacy in their new languages. The chapters provide the latest research-informed evidence on the acquisition of linguistic competence and the development of reading in a new language by adults.

The book concludes with a chapter that addresses the challenges and opportunities faced by this group of learners and their teachers with specific instructional strategies that can be used The book will be an invaluable resource for teachers tutors and training providers as well as volunteers who work with adult migrants

Second Language Educational Experiences for Adult Learners John M. Norris, John McE. Davis, Veronika Timpe, Veronika Timpe-Laughlin, 2017-04-21

Second Language Educational Experiences for Adult Learners explains the latest research on adult learning and then applies that work to specifically address second language learning In the foundational chapters this book introduces some of the differences between language learning for adults In the second half of the volume the authors move to consider educational design in chapters on curriculum materials assessment and technology This is an essential book for researchers and students interested in the science of language learning or anyone looking to better understand the science of adult education

Adult Minority Language Learning Colin J. Flynn, 2020-03-20 This book examines the role of affective variables in the process of learning a minority language It presents a comprehensive account of how adult learners attitude motivation and identity are related to their awareness of and commitment to different dialects and varieties as target speech models These issues are examined in the context of Irish a minority language which does not have a standard spoken variety and where the vast majority of learners have no regular contact with native speakers Using a mixed methods research approach this study explores the relationships that exist between on the one hand learners attitudes towards the three main traditional dialects of Irish and non traditional second language varieties and on the other their motivation and self concept as second language learners

Adult Language Learning: Insights, Instructions And Implications Shamim Ali, 2011-05-06 Master s Thesis from the year 2006 in the subject Pedagogy Adult Education National University of Modern Languages Islamabad English Department course Research Project language English abstract The present study aims to investigate that age is not a detriment to language learning As young students are biologically disposed to better second language learning as well as given certain benefits such as lower self monitor and affective filter but at the same time adults are also not at a lower vantage point in L2 learning process In the language learning program adult learners bring with them certain advantages Adults are better at understanding grammatical rules since they are aware of the rules and structures in their own language Especially in the areas of vocabulary and language structure adults are actually better language learners than children Adult learners have more highly developed cognitive systems are able to make higher order associations and generalizations and can integrate new language input with their already substantial learning experience They also rely on long term memory rather than the short term memory function used by children and younger learners for rote learning Adults have already developed learning strategies that have served them well in other contexts They can use these strategies to their advantage in language learning This research will suggest ways of dealing better with adult learners in their academic performance in the language class The researchers aim will be to investigate that they have potentials to become accomplished language learners with the advantage of more advanced cognitive development in the first language and they integrate new language input with their already substantial learning experience To prove her point of view the researcher will involve 10 teachers and 30 students of Diploma Certificate and Foundation level at the Department of English functional Courses at National University of Modern Languages Islamabad For assessing adult learners proficiency in the class questionnaires will be distributed among the participants Classroom observation are also contributing factor in determining the learning process of adult learners so these tools will be used to find the role and behavior pattern of adult learners Further it would help language teachers to understand that experience of adult learner is a living text book and teachers can go through the language programme by cooperating with adult learners

Narratives of Adult English Learners and Teachers Clarena Larrotta, 2019-04-10 This book centralizes the narratives of adult English language learners teachers and trainee teachers in the development of a humanistic language pedagogy their strengths concerns and stories inform this practical guide to adult literacy development and English language culture learning and teaching The author sets the need to educate the whole person and to focus on the adult learner s strengths and assets against a background of rigorous research and practical experience This book combines evidence based pedagogy with a passionate belief in the centrality of the learner and the importance of education and will be invaluable to all those involved in teaching and training related to adult English language learners
