Letting Go of Literary Whiteness Carlin Borsheim-Black, Sophia Tatiana Sarigianides, 2019. Rooted in examples from their own and others' classrooms, the authors offer discipline-specific practices for implementing antiracist literature instruction in White dominant schools. Each chapter explores a key dimension of antiracist literature teaching and learning, including designing literature-based units that emphasize racial literacy, selecting literature that highlights voices of color, analyzing Whiteness in canonical literature, examining texts through a critical race lens, managing challenges of race talk, and designing formative assessments for racial literacy and identity growth. Sophia and Carlin's book is startling in how openly and honestly it takes up the problem of how to teach about racism using literature in White schools. As I read, I kept marveling at how courageous and direct and clear their writing is. From the Foreword by Timothy J. Lensmire, University of Minnesota.

Letting Go of Literary Whiteness unpacks the necessary responsibility of exploring race for all teachers. Borsheim-Black and Sarigianides center this work in English classrooms, exploring the kinds of literature discussions and difficult instructional decisions that teachers make every day. This book emphasizes that racial justice is a shared responsibility for teachers today and through myriad practical examples, offers guidance for centering equity in schools. Antero Garcia, Stanford Graduate School of Education.

An Introduction to Elementary Reading: Selected Materials Ronald G. Noland, Jone P. Wright, Elizabeth G. Allen, 1971.

Current Trends in the Development and Teaching of the Four Language Skills Esther Usó Juan, Alicia Martínez Flor, 2006. Current Trends in the Development and Teaching of the four Language Skills builds connections from theory in the four language skills to instructional practices. It comprises twenty-one chapters that are grouped in five sections. The first section includes an introductory chapter which presents a communicative competence framework developed by the editors in order to highlight the key role the four skills play in language learning and teaching. The next four sections each represent a language skill: Section II is devoted to listening, Section III to speaking, Section IV to reading, and Section V to writing. In order to provide an extensive treatment of each of the four skills, each section starts with a theoretical chapter which briefly illustrates advances in the understanding of how each skill is likely to be learned and taught, followed by four didactically oriented chapters authored by leading international specialists. These pedagogical chapters deal specifically with four key topics: 1. areas of research that influence the teaching of a particular skill; 2. an overview of strategies or techniques necessary for developing a particular skill; 3. an approach to the academic orientation of a particular skill; and 4. unique aspects of teaching each skill. Moreover, all chapters incorporate two common sections: pre-reading questions at the beginning of the chapter in order to stimulate readers' interest in its content, and a section entitled suggested activities at the end of the chapter in order to allow readers put the ideas and concepts presented into practice The accessible style and practical focus of the volume make it an ideal tool for teachers teacher trainers and teacher trainees who are involved in teaching the four language skills in a second or foreign language context Best Practices in Literacy Instruction, Fourth Edition Lesley Mandel Morrow, Linda B. Gambrell, 2011-06-16 A highly regarded teacher resource and widely adopted text this book is grounded in current knowledge about literacy teaching and learning in grades PreK 8 The field's leading authorities present accessible recommendations for best practices that can be tailored to fit specific classroom circumstances and student populations Provided are strategies for helping all students succeed including struggling readers and English language learners and for teaching each of the major components of literacy The book also addresses ways to organize instruction and innovative uses of technology Chapters include concrete examples Engagement Activities and resources for further learning New to This Edition Incorporates the latest research findings and instructional practices Chapters on motivation content area teaching new literacies and family literacy Addresses timely topics such as response to intervention the new common core standards English language learning and policy issues Designing Information Literacy Instruction Joan R. Kaplowitz, 2014-05-01 Designing Information Literacy Instruction The Teaching Tripod Approach provides a working knowledge of how instructional design ID applies to information literacy instruction ILI Its how to do it approach is directed at instruction librarians in all library settings and deals with both face to face and online ID issues No matter where an instruction librarian works whom they are teaching or what delivery mode they will be using the ID process remains the same Start with the user and the user's needs Identify the instructional problem's Develop outcomes that address these problem's Use outcomes to drive both the learning activities included and the assessments used to measure the attainment of the success of the instructional endeavor This book will help instruction librarians create instruction for all types of environments and in all modes of delivery It includes exercises and worksheets to help the reader work through the instructional design process Based on Kaplowitz's innovative Teaching Tripod model it will help instructional librarians clearly define the crucial links between outcomes activities and assessment Approaches to Teaching Dostoevsky's Crime and Punishment Michael R. Katz, Alexander Burry, 2022-04-05 Offers techniques for teaching Dostoevsky's Crime and Punishment in undergraduate graduate and high school classrooms Topics include ethics gender money Orthodox Christianity psychoanalysis social justice teaching in prison and the use of digital media and film adaptations Handbook of Reading Disability Research Anne McGill-Franzen, Richard Allington, 2010-09-17 Bringing together a wide range of research on reading disabilities this comprehensive Handbook extends current discussion and thinking beyond a narrowly defined psychometric perspective Emphasizing that learning to read proficiently is a long term developmental process involving many interventions of various kinds all keyed to individual developmental needs it addresses traditional questions What is the nature or causes of reading disabilities How are reading disabilities assessed How should reading disabilities be remediated To what extent is remediation possible but from multiple or alternative perspectives Taking incursions into the broader research literature represented by linguistic and anthropological paradigms as well as psychological and educational research the volume is on the front line in exploring the relation of reading disability to learning and language to poverty and prejudice and to instruction and schooling The editors and authors are distinguished scholars with extensive research experience and publication records and numerous honors and awards from professional organizations representing the range of disciplines in the field of reading disabilities Throughout their contributions are contextualized within the framework of educators struggling to develop concrete instructional practices that meet the learning needs of the lowest achieving readers
