BODY IN ART

By Alexander Day*

With 24 studies sketched and studied by Arthur Eddisworth, of the English Academy, New York. This collection of studies is primarily intended for the art student and teacher. The models have been selected and the poses arranged into the three "big" classes—classical, modern, and contemporary. Over 20 poses in the book give the student a study of the essential range of study. Portraits from all angles—standing, reclining, seated and lying—are provided so that the essentials of form and balance can easily be grasped. Some of the studies have been made intentionally difficult so that as the student advances, he will find full scope for his talent.
