Complicating Categories: Gender, Class, Race and Ethnicity Eileen Boris, Angelique Janssens, 1999 This volume focuses on complicating central concepts in the understanding of economic and social history class gender race and ethnicity Only recently have historians begun to ask how gender race and ethnicity as categories of analysis change narratives of class formation and working class experience While all three concepts refer to systems of inequality it remains unclear how these systems of difference relate to each other Despite a growing body of empirical literature authors more often connect dyads rather than consider historical phenomenon from the triad of class race and gender This volume highlights attempts to write a richer history that complicates categories suggesting how class gender race and or ethnicity combine across a wide range of economic and social landscapes      Under God Garry Wills, 2013-05-28 In Under God Pulitzer Prize winner and eminent political observer Garry Wills sheds light on the frequent collision between American politics and American religion Beginning with the 1988 presidential contest an election that included two ministers and a senator accused of sin award winning author Garry Wills surveys the tapestry of American history to show the continuity of present controversies with past religious struggles and argues that the secular standards of the Founding Fathers have been misunderstood He shows that despite reactionary fire breathers and fanatics religion has often been a progressive force in American politics and explains why the policy of a separate church and state has ironically made the position of the church stronger Marked by the extraordinary quality of observation that has defined Will s work Under God is a rich original look at why religion and politics will never be separate in the United States
