Iggers,1984-07 Impressive analytical essays on the transformation of historical studies in Europe In four impressively researched essays Georg Iggers recounts the transformation of historical studies in Europe during the twentieth century with particular emphasis on the historiography of the past fifteen years Although the book does survey a broad area of contemporary historical thought it is primarily a careful analytical examination of the methodological and theoretical reorientation of certain influential European historians The first essay discusses the emergence at German Universities during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries of the concept of history as a scientific discipline distinct from the classical tradition of literary history and the later broad acceptance of this mode of Enquiry in the Western world Against this background Mr Iggers then considers the challenge to this mode of the political social and intellectual upheavals of the twentieth century especially after World War II The three essays following examine important attempts to develop alternate paradigms for historical study the French historians of the Annales tradition the German political historians of the 1960s the various Marxist historians of France Poland East Germany and Great Britain In despite of the frequent insistence by philosophers and theorists of history that history is not a science in contemporary terms historians themselves have striven in recent years to strengthen the quantitative aspects of historical study moving away from traditional patterns of writing and adopting methods and concepts from the systematic social sciences Mr Iggers book is an excellent introduction to these contemporary changes in historiography and in its comparative analyses itself makes a contribution to historical studies

Revolution and Rebellion in the Early Modern World Jack A. Goldstone, 2016-12-19 What can the great crises of the past teach us about contemporary revolutions Jack Goldstone shows the important role of population changes youth bulges urbanization elite divisions and fiscal crises in creating major political crises Goldstone shows how state breakdowns in both western monarchies and Asian empires followed the same patterns triggered when inflexible political economic and social institutions were overwhelmed by cumulative changes in population structure that collided with popular aspirations and state elite relations Examining the great revolutions of Europe the English and French Revolutions and the great rebellions of Asia which shattered dynasties in Ottoman Turkey China and Japan he shows how long cycles of revolutionary crises and stability similarly shaped politics in Europe and Asia but led to different outcomes In this 25th anniversary edition Goldstone reflects on the history of revolutions in the last twenty five years from the Philippines and other color revolutions to the Arab Uprisings and the rise of the Islamic State In a new introduction he re examines his pioneering look at the role of population changes such as rising youth cohorts urbanization shifting elite mobility as continuing causal factors of revolutions and rebellions The new concluding chapter updates his major theory and looks to the future of revolutions in the Middle East Asia and Africa Encyclopedia of Historians and Historical Writing Kelly Boyd,2019-10-09 The Encyclopedia of Historians and Historical Writing contains over 800 entries ranging from Lord Acton and Anna Comnena to Howard Zinn and from Herodotus to Simon Schama Over 300 contributors from around the world have composed critical assessments of historians from the beginning of historical writing to the present day including individuals from related disciplines like Jürgen Habermas and Clifford Geertz whose theoretical contributions have informed historical debate Additionally the Encyclopedia includes some 200 essays treating the development of national regional and topical historiographies from the Ancient Near East to the history of sexuality In addition to the Western tradition it includes substantial assessments of African Asian and Latin American historians and debates on gender and subaltern studies

Abandoned Children Rachel G. Fuchs,1984-01-01 In nineteenth century France parents abandoned their children in overwhelming numbers up to 20 percent of live births in the Parisian area The infants were left at state run homes and were then transferred to rural wet nurses and foster parents Their chances of survival were slim but with alterations in state policy economic and medical development and changing attitudes toward children and the family their chances had significantly improved by the end of the century Rachel Fuchs has drawn on newly discovered archival sources and previously untapped documents of the Paris foundling home in order to depict the actual conditions of abandoned children and to reveal the bureaucratic and political response This study traces the evolution of French social policy from early attempts to limit welfare to later efforts to increase social programs and influence family life Abandoned Children illuminates in detail the family life of nineteenth century French poor It shows how French social policy with respect to abandoned children sought to create an economically useful and politically neutral underclass out of a segment of the population that might otherwise have been an economic drain and a potential political threat The Modern World-System II Immanuel Wallerstein,2011-05-11
