The Future of Mining in South Africa: Sunset or Sunrise? Valiani, Salimah, 2018-12-28 The future of mining in South Africa is hotly contested Wide ranging views from multiple quarters rarely seem to intersect placing emphasis on different questions without engaging in holistic debate This book aims to catalyse change by gathering together fragmented views into unifying conversations It highlights the importance of debating the future of mining in South Africa and for reaching consensus in other countries across the mineral dependent globe It covers issues such as the potential of platinum to spur industrialisation land and dispossession on the platinum belt the roles of the state and capital in mineral development mining in the era of the Fourth Industrial Revolution the experiences of women in and affected by mining since the late 19th century and mine worker organising history and lessons and how post mine rehabilitation can be tackled It was inspired not only by an appreciation of South Africa s extensive mineral endowments but also by a realisation that while the South African mining industry performs relatively well on many technical indicators its management of broader social issues leaves much to be desired It needs to be deliberated whether the mining industry can play as critical a role going forward as it did in the evolution of the country s economy

Gender Inequalities in Africa's Mining Policies Francis Onditi, 2022-04-17 This book develops a discursive equalitarian theoretical framework for studying African mining ecosystem issues and policy interventions The theory of equalitarianism is developed as an alternative to the reductionist approach that has dominated post colonial debates about the classical jus ad bellum requirements to empower women in development spaces However the classical approach narrows the debate down to women issues rather than the whole of society As a consequence of this reductionism women continue to be devalued in the mining sector characterized by poverty traps power struggles and a lack of capacity to engage in large scale mining LSM activities This book advances principles for a holistic approach and spells out the implications for women across the mining value chain Drawing on moral scholarship the book poses that for women to gain access to strategic spaces in the mining sector the drive for empowerment must be embedded within whole of society principles This book is of interest to scholars researching gender policy public policy political philosophy conflictology and human geography It also offers practitioners a guide for evaluating their policy work on mainstreaming gender in the mining sector presenting options for financing forging partnership and planning for an inclusive economic development in Africa and beyond Fairness and Justice in Natural Resource Politics Melanie Pichler, Cornelia Staritz, Karin Küblböck, Christina Plank, Werner Raza, Fernando Ruiz Peyré, 2016-08-05 As demand for natural resources increases due to the rise in world population and living standards conflicts over their access and control are becoming more prevalent This book critically assesses different approaches to and conceptualizations of resource fairness and justice and applies them to the analysis of resource conflicts Approaches addressed include cosmopolitan liberalism political economy and political ecology These are applied at various scales local national international and to initiatives and instruments in public and private resource governance such as corporate social responsibility instruments certification schemes international law and commodity markets In doing so the contributions contrast existing approaches to fairness and justice and extend them by taking into account the interplay between political scales regions resources and power structures in glocalised resource politics Various case studies are included concerning agriculture agrofuels land grabbing water resources mining and biodiversity The volume adds to the academic and policy debate by bringing together a variety of disciplines and perspectives in order to advance both a research and policy agenda that puts notions of resource fairness and justice center stage Poverty Alleviation Pathways for Achieving Sustainable Development Goals in Africa Thokozani Simelane, 2020-10-28 The inability to eradicate poverty among societies demands a synergistic approach This calls for the development of multi pronged pathways for transitioning towards sustainable development goals Many of these have been developed and tested across the world Some have proved to be effective in illuminating the underlying cause of the world s inability to eradicate poverty This is being driven by the fact that sustainable development as a global development concept represents a multidimensional phenomenon that includes many different indicators of human development This volume which derives from the papers presented at the seventh Africa Unity for Renaissance Conference that was held at Freedom Park Pretoria South Africa seeks to supplement existing pathways by highlighting Africa s approach to poverty alleviation which can possibly be attained through enhanced nutrition food security energy and gender equity Evidence presented reflects strengths weaknesses and opportunities on how Africa can transition towards sustainable development goals The information provided is useful to countries interested in assisting Africa to develop pathways for achieving sustainable development goals within the scope of Agenda 2063 The book is a good reference for policy makers academics government authorities and students interested in research and developmental studies

Contemporary Customary Land Issues in Africa J. Oloka-Onyango, Bridget Bwalya Umar, 2018-07-26 This book examines current trends in customary land issues in Africa focusing on the practice of converting customary land into leasehold tenure particularly in Zambia Since the enactment of the 1995 Lands Act No 29 in Zambia conversion of customary land has become a controversial policy raising questions about the future of customary land and rural communities and the role of traditional authorities in a changing environment Alienating customary land into leasehold tenure has serious implications for local and national politics and gender dynamics Analysis of these trends suggests that the policy of creating land markets on customary land is subjecting customary systems to the forces of change However governments that have adopted this policy have not by and large adopted measures to respond to these challenges Although customary tenure is widely believed to be resilient it is not clear how the customary system will navigate the current winds of change Chapters in this book draw from the Land Use and Rural Livelihoods in Africa Project LURLAP a collaborative research project undertaken by staff and students at the University of Cape Town and the University of Zambia
