

What was
this area
like before Stonehenge?

Long before the first people came to live in this area, the land was covered in a dense forest of trees and shrubs.
The area around Stonehenge was a flat, open landscape with a few small hills and valleys.

Over the years, the landscape has changed. The forest has been cleared, and the land has been used for agriculture.

Today, the area around Stonehenge is a mix of natural and man-made features. The landscape is still mostly flat, but there are some hills and valleys.
