Social Paralysis and Social Change Neil J. Smelser, 1991-01-01 History of Education: Education in its social context Roy Lowe, 2000 The Broadview Anthology of Victorian Prose, 1832-1901 Mary Elizabeth Leighton, Lisa Surridge, 2012-08-20 The Victorian era witnessed dramatic transformations in print culture and this new anthology covers the exciting intellectual and social debates of the period From first person accounts of the lives of factory workers to Oscar Wilde's aesthetic theory and from narratives of British travelers in Africa and Asia to Havelock Ellis's theories of sexual inversion the surprising diversity of nineteenth century nonfiction writing is represented Illustrations from Victorian periodicals provide a vivid sense of the original reading experience The book's thematic organization emphasizes the social and historical contexts of prose writings as well as the way in which these writings address each other In addition to a general critical introduction the anthology features new thematic introductions by experts in the field School and Society in Victorian Britain Richard Aldrich, 2012-05-16 Drawing on hitherto unused sources this book represents a shift in the historiography of British education At the centre of the investigation is Joseph Payne He was one of the group of pioneers who founded the College of Preceptors in 1846 and in 1873 he was appointed to the first professorship of education in Britain established by the College of Preceptors By that date Payne had acquired a considerable reputation He was a classroom practitioner of rare skill the founder of two of the most successful Victorian private schools the author of best selling text books a scholar of note despite his lack of formal education and a leading member of the College of Preceptors and such bodies as the Scholastic Registration Association the Girls Public Day School Trust the Women's Education Union and the Social Science Association The History of British Women's Writing, 1830-1880 Lucy Hartley, 2018-09-22 This volume charts the rise of professional women writers across diverse fields of intellectual enquiry and through different modes of writing in the period immediately before and during the reign of Queen Victoria It demonstrates how between 1830 and 1880 the woman writer became an agent of cultural formation and contestation appealing to and enabling the growth of female readership while issuing a challenge to the authority of male writers and critics Of especial importance were changing definitions of marriage family and nation of class and of morality as well as new conceptions of sexuality and gender and of sympathy and sensation The result is a richly textured account of a radical and complex process of feminization whereby formal innovations in the different modes of writing by women became central to the aesthetic social and political formation of British culture and society in the nineteenth century The Rise and Fall of Class in Britain David Cannadine, 1999 Although politicians in Britain are now calling for a classless society can one conclude as do many scholars that class does not matter anymore Cannadine uncovers the meanings of class for such disparate figures as Adam Smith Karl Marx and Margaret Thatcher and identifies the moments when opinion shifted such as the aftermath of the French Revolution and the rise of the Labour Party in the early twentieth century The Idea of Education in Golden Age Detective Fiction Roger

Dalrymple, Andrew Green, 2024-07-05 This book presents an exploration of how Golden Age detective fiction encounters educational ideas particularly those forged by the transformative educational policymaking of the interwar period Charting the educational policy and provision of the era and referring to works by Agatha Christie Dorothy L Sayers Edmund Crispin and others this book explores the educational capacity and agency of literary detectives the learning spaces of the genre and the kinds of knowledge that are made available to inquirers both inside and outside the text It is argued that the genre explores a range of contemporaneous propositions on the balance between academic curriculum and practicum length of school life and the value of lifelong learning This book s closing chapter considers the continuing pedagogic value for contemporary classrooms of engaging with the genre as a rich discursive and imaginative space for exploring educational ideas Framing Golden Age detective fiction as a genre profoundly concerned with learning this book will be highly relevant reading for academics postgraduate students and scholars involved in the fields of English language arts twentieth century literature and the theories of learning more broadly Those interested in detective fiction and interdisciplinary literary studies will also find the volume of interest Edinburgh History of Children's Periodicals Michelle J. Rowan, 2012-02-01 The New Institutionalism in Education brings together leading academics to explore the ongoing changes in K 12 and higher education in both the United States and abroad The contributors show that current educational trends including the increased globalization of education the growing emphasis on educational markets and school choice the rise of accountability systems and the persistent influence of business groups like textbook manufacturers and test makers on educational policy can best be understood when observed through an institutional lens Because schools and universities are organizations that are stabilized by deeply institutionalized rules they are subject to the enduring problem of substantive educational reform This book gives researchers and policy analysts conceptual tools and empirical assessments to gauge the possibilities for institutional reform and innovation The Cambridge History of the Book in Britain: Volume 6, 1830-1914 David McKitterick, 2009-03-05 The years 1830 1914 witnessed a revolution in the manufacture and use of books as great as that in the fifteenth century Using new technology in printing paper making and binding publishers worked with
