Erving Goffman

Social Stigma Man Made Univ 3 E I M:

Stigma Erving Goffman, 2009-11-24 From the author of The Presentation of Self in Everyday Life Stigma analyzes a person's feelings about himself and his relationship to people whom society calls normal. Stigma is an illuminating excursion into the situation of persons who are unable to conform to standards that society calls normal. Disqualified from full social acceptance, they are stigmatized individuals. Physically deformed people, ex-mental patients, drug addicts, prostitutes, or those ostracized for other reasons must constantly strive to adjust to their precarious social identities. Their image of themselves must daily confront and be affronted by the image which others reflect back to them. Drawing extensively on autobiographies and case studies, sociologist Erving Goffman analyzes the stigmatized person's feelings about himself and his relationship to normals. He explores the variety of strategies stigmatized individuals employ to deal with the rejection of others and the complex sorts of information about themselves they project. In Stigma, the interplay of alternatives the stigmatized individual must face every day is brilliantly examined by one of America's leading social analysts.

Lazy, Crazy, and Disgusting

Alexandra Brewis, Amber Wutich, 2019-11-19 How stigma derails well intentioned public health efforts, creating suffering and worsening inequalities. 2020 Winner Society for Anthropological Sciences Carol R. Ember Book Prize. Shortlisted for the British Sociological Association's Foundation for the Sociology of Health and Illness Book Prize. Stigma is a dehumanizing process where shaming and blaming are embedded in our beliefs about who does and does not have value within society. In Lazy, Crazy, and Disgusting, medical anthropologists Alexandra Brewis and Amber Wutich explore a darker side of public health: that well intentioned public health campaigns can create new and damaging stigma even when they are otherwise successful. Brewis and Wutich present a novel synthetic argument about how stigmas act as a massive driver of global disease and suffering, killing or sickening billions every year. They focus on three of the most complex, difficult to fix global health efforts: bringing sanitation to all, treating mental illness, and preventing obesity. They explain how and why humans so readily stigmatize, how this derails ongoing public health efforts, and why this process invariably hurts people who are already at risk. They also explore how new stigmas enter global health so easily and consider why destigmatization is so very difficult. Finally, the book offers potential solutions that may be able to prevent, challenge, and fix stigma. Stigma elimination. Brewis and Wutich conclude must be recognized as a necessary and core component of all global health efforts. Drawing on the authors' keen observations and decades of fieldwork, Lazy, Crazy, and Disgusting combines a wide array of ethnographic evidence from around the globe to demonstrate conclusively how stigma undermines global health's basic goals to create both health and justice.
