Social Interaction And Patient Care:

Social Interaction and Patient Care James K. Skipper, Robert C. Leonard, 1965 Social Interaction and Patient Care James K. Skipper, 1965 Handbook of Communication and Social Interaction Skills John O. Greene, Brant Raney Burleson, 2003 A comprehensive handbook covering social interaction skills skill acquisition in the context of personal professional and public stages For scholars students in interpersonal group family health communication Rationality in Social Interactions Guido Olschewski, 2009 The analysis of human decision making in social sciences is often based on a conception of rationality This dissertation contains three microeconomic models which directly build on the rationality assumption in economic theory We model agents endowed with rational preferences and analyze how such preferences translate into decisions in a given social interaction In particular we present three different models 1 Arrowian social choice theory with delegation as a feasible policy alternative 2 Game theory and the existence of mental equilibrium in 2x2 games 3 Information economics and its application to analyzing stakeholder participation in electronic health record networks

Information Technology in Health Care 2007 Johanna Westbrook, Johanna I. Westbrook, 2007 This volume presents the papers from the 3rd International Conference on Technology in Health Care Socio technical Approaches held in Sydney Australia in 2007 Towards a neuroscience of social interaction Ulrich Pfeiffer, Bert Timmermans, Kai Vogeley, Chris Frith, Leonhard Schilbach, The burgeoning field of social neuroscience has begun to illuminate the complex biological bases of human social cognitive abilities However in spite of being based on the premise of investigating the neural bases of interacting minds the majority of studies have focused on studying brains in isolation using paradigms that investigate offline social cognition i e social cognition from a detached observer s point of view asking study participants to read out the mental states of others without being engaged in interaction with them Consequently the neural correlates of real time social interaction have remained elusive and may paradoxically represent the dark matter of social neuroscience More recently a growing number of researchers have begun to study online social cognition i e social cognition from a participant s point of view based on the assumption that there is something fundamentally different when we are actively engaged with others in real time social interaction as compared to when we merely observe them Whereas for offline social cognition interaction and feedback are merely a way of gathering data about the other person that feeds into processing algorithms inside the agent it has been proposed that in online social cognition the knowledge of the other at least in part resides in the interaction dynamics between the agents Furthermore being a participant in an ongoing interaction may entail a commitment toward being responsive created by important differences in the motivational foundations of online and offline social cognition In order to promote the development of the neuroscientific investigation of online social cognition this Frontiers Research Topic aims at bringing together contributions from researchers in social neuroscience and related fields whose work involves the study of at least two individuals and sometimes two brains rather than single individuals and brains responding to a social context Specifically this Research Topic will adopt an interdisciplinary perspective on what it is that separates online from offline social cognition and the putative differences in the recruitment of underlying processes and mechanisms Here an important focal point will be to address the various roles of social interaction in contributing to and at times constituting our awareness of other minds For this Research Topic we therefore solicit reviews original research articles opinion and method papers which address the investigation of social interaction and go beyond traditional concepts and ways of experimentation in doing so While focusing on work in the neurosciences this Research Topic also welcomes contributions in the form of behavioral studies psychophysiological investigations methodological innovations computational approaches developmental and patient studies By focusing on cutting edge research in social neuroscience and related fields this Frontiers Research Topic will create new insights concerning the neurobiology of social interaction and holds the promise of helping social neuroscience to really go social Studies in Language and Social Interaction Jennifer Mandelbaum, 2003-01-30 This collection offers empirical studies and theoretical essays about human communication in everyday life The writings come from many of the world s leading researchers and cut across academic boundaries engaging scholars and teachers from such disciplines as communication sociology anthropology linguistics and education Chapters emphasize empirical qualitative studies of people s everyday uses of talk in interaction and they feature work in such areas as sociolinguistics conversation analysis discourse analysis and ethnography The volume is dedicated to and highlights themes in the work of the late Robert Hopper an outstanding scholar in communication who pioneered research in Language and Social Interaction LSI The contributors examine various features of human interaction such as laughter vocal repetition and hand gestures occurring naturally within a variety of settings at a dinner table a doctor's office an automotive repair shop and so forth whereby interlocutors accomplish aspects of their interpersonal or institutional lives resolve a disagreement report bad medical news negotiate a raise and more all of which may relate to larger social issues including police brutality human spirituality death and optimism The chapters in this anthology show that social life is largely a communicative accomplishment and that people constitute the social realities experienced every day through small and subtle ways of communicating carefully orchestrated but commonly taken for granted In showcasing the diversity of contemporary LSI research this volume is appropriate for scholars and graduate students in language and social interaction communication sociology research methods qualitative research methods discourse analysis conversation analysis linguistics and related areas

The Making and Breaking of Minds: How social interactions shape the human mind Isabella Sarto-Jackson, 2022-04-05 The human brain has a truly remarkable capacity It reorganizes itself flexibly adjusting to fluctuating environmental conditions a process called neuroplasticity Neuroplasticity provides the basis for wide ranging learning and memory processes that are particularly profuse during childhood and adolescence At the same time the exceptional malleability of the developing brain leaves it highly vulnerable to negative impact from the surroundings Abusive or neglecting social environments as well as socioeconomic deprivation and poverty cause toxic stress and complex traumas that can severely compromise cognitive development emotional processing self perception and executive brain functions The neurophysiological changes entailed impair emotional regulation lead to heightened anxiety and afflict attachment and the formation of social bonds Neuroplastic changes following severely adverse experiences are not something that a person grows out of and gets over These experiences alter the neurobiological and biochemical makeup and cause people to live in an emotionally relabeled world in which the evaluation of any social cue their behavior cognition and state of mind are biased towards the negative Even more worrying detrimental neurophysiological consequences are not limited to the traumatized individual but are often transmitted to subsequent generations through a process of social niche construction thereby creating a vicious cycle Thus the making and breaking forces of the brain are epitomized by parents alloparents peers and our socioeconomic niche This book expounds on the formative role that the social environment plays in healthy brain development especially during infancy childhood and adolescence Based on scientific findings the book advocates for bold measures and responsible stewardship to combat child abuse maltreatment and child poverty By bringing together insights from neuroscience evolutionary biology and social education work it lays out a fact based transdisciplinary endeavor that aims at rising to the societal challenge of providing a rewarding perspective to youth at risk It will be a valuable resource for academics from social education pedagogy cognitive science neuroscience as well as professionals in the fields of social work pedagogy education child welfare
