Sophie Tucker First Lady Of Show Business:

Sophie Tucker Armond Fields, 2003-05-22 Sophie Tucker appeared in only seven American stage musicals and appeared only twice on Broadway but then it was difficult to cast her in a show. A buxom and ebullient performer, she and her audiences quickly found that playing herself was most effective. This is a biography of a vaudeville and cabaret performer who saw herself as one of the first liberated women and one of the last red-hot mammas. It tells the story of her birth as her mother traveled to Boston from Russia, her childhood in Boston, and her first public performance at Poli's Vaudeville Theatre at the age of 13. It also tells the story of her troubled marriage to Louis Tuck and the birth of their son, her meeting with Willie Howard, a vaudeville veteran who encouraged her to go to New York and pursue a stage career, her discovery by Flo Ziegfeld of the Ziegfeld Follies, and her rise to headliner status under the guidance of her agent William Morris. She was best known for appearing on stage with just a piano player and openly discussing her life and Jewish upbringing.

The Prettiest Girl on Stage Is a Man Kathleen B. Casey, 2024-01-12 In this highly readable book, Kathleen Casey makes an important intervention into the study of early twentieth-century American vaudeville and some of its most infamous stars. She pinpoints the blind spot in current scholarship by demonstrating how race as much as gender charges the meanings in vaudeville performance. Linda Mizejewski, author of Pretty Funny Women, Comedians and Body Politics, and Ziegfeld Girl, from the 1890s through the 1920s, vaudeville reigned as one of the most popular entertainment forms in urban America. Through drama, humor, and satire, it invited its socially, economically, and ethnically diverse audiences to turn a self-conscious eye upon themselves and their culture, which was being rapidly transformed by such forces as immigration, racial discord, and new conceptions of gender roles. It was no coincidence that acts featuring cross-dressing performers and racial impersonators were among vaudeville's biggest attractions. In this lively and enlightening study, Kathleen B. Casey explores the ways in which the gender and race-bending spectacles of vaudeville dramatized the economic, technological, social, and cultural upheaval that gripped the United States in the early twentieth century. She focuses on four key performers: Eva Tanguay, known as The I Don't Care Girl, was loved for her defiance of Victorian decorum, linking white womanliness to animalistic savagery at a time when racial and gender ideologies were undergoing significant reconstruction. In contrast, Julian Eltinge, the era's foremost female impersonator, used race to exaggerate notions of manliness and femininity in a way that reinforced traditional norms more than it undermined them. Lillian Brown, a biracial woman who portrayed a cosmopolitan black male dandy while singing about an antebellum southern past, offered her audiences black and white starkly different visual and aural messages about race and gender. Finally, Sophie Tucker, who often performed in blackface during the early years of her long and heralded career, strategically played with prevailing ideologies by alternately portraying herself as white, Jewish, black, manly, and womanly, while managing remarkably to convince audiences that these identities could coexist within one body. Analyzing a wide assortment of primary materials—advertisements, recordings, lyrics, sheet music, costumes, photographs—reviews and press accounts from the era Casey looks not only at gender and racial impersonation but also at how spectators reacted to these performances Kathleen B Casey is an assistant professor of history at Virginia Wesleyan College
