called it which was closed off with cyclone fencing to the other Speaking of which this bridge looks pretty defensible don't you think I peered off the way we had come Only one side to protect we can take turns standing watch I mean it may not be the Ritz but what do you say We looked around and then at each other Hell I'm in said Quint We can even build a fire and maybe eat something something hot I mean It'll be just like it'll be just like Camp Courage I couldn't help but to notice he'd stopped short of saying home and a quick glance at Jesse confirmed he'd noticed it too although whether he'd done so because his own home life had sucked or because he'd understood in that moment that because of the Flashback we'd never see home again I don't know Sure why not said Jesse We can heat up that beef stew the one we were saving for Portland We're close enough He shrugged off his pack and spear and laid down his bike And besides it'll lighten my load He dug out the can of Dinty Moore stew and paused looking at it Seems almost wasteful though doesn't it I mean you'd like to think you'd like to think nothing was born just to lay there and rot you know We all turned to look at the bird Yeah said Quint I mean it's like God laid it out there just for us and here we are wanting to eat something from a can I got off my bike and reached for my pocketknife touched its smooth imitation wood handle We're going to have to learn how to hunt eventually I suppose I mean I already know how to hunt said Quint And to clean and dress a I know how to do that too He held out his hand for my knife which I gave over to him slowly reluctantly And since both you pussies missed man school I guess I'll be the one to have to show you Jesse looked at me and then back to Quint Let me guess Because attributes Because attributes said Quint and got off his bike

The End of the Dream and Other Stories John G. Neihardt, 2025-07-21 Originally published at the beginning of the twentieth century, the short stories of John G. Neihardt deserve to be better known. Their flesh and blood Indians were practically unprecedented in an era when the fiends of dime novels and idealizations of Cooper were still the literary norm. Owing much to young Neihardt's intimate association with the Omahas at their reservation in eastern Nebraska, the stories were of an Indian cast that perplexed the critics. They were often overlooked as the years brought laurels to the author of A Cycle of the West and Black Elk Speaks. A closer look at them reveals that Neihardt was a disciplined artist from the very beginning. The nine stories in this volume appeared from 1901 to 1905 in the Overland Monthly; five were collected in The Lonesome Trail in 1907. All of them are informed by Neihardt's experience among Omaha Indians and shaped by the power of his imagination. Except for A Prairie Borgia, which clearly touches on the notorious Chief Blackbird's relations with traders, all are set in the time before contact with white men. Love and hate, kindness and cruelty, hope and despair, generosity and envy, honesty and guile, spiritual impulse and sexual desire operate in this wholly Indian world. The End of the Dream, The Triumph of Seha, and The Smile of God are patterned on vision quests issuing in profound irony. The social outcast who figured in Neihardt's Indian Tales and Others (1927) appears again in adventures with a cosmic and sometimes fantastic dimension. These stories, as well as When the Snows Drift, The Beating of the War Drums, The Fading of Shadow Flower, The Singing of the Frogs, and The Spirit of Crow Butte, have an inwardness reflected by vivid imagery. Their quality led Dr. Susan LaFlesche Picotte, the daughter of Joseph LaFlesche, Iron Eyes' last chief of the Omahas, to exclaim that Neihardt was the only writer in a long line extending from Cooper to Frederic Remington who possessed a true understanding of Indian character. The stories were compiled by Neihardt's daughter, Hilda Neihardt Petri. In his introduction, Jay Fultz discusses their cultural context and
