From the Terrorists' Point of View Fathali M. Moghaddam, 2006-06-30 Presenting a picture of the world giving rise to Islamic terrorism From the Terrorists Point of View argues that terrorism arises from a deep and pervasive identity crisis in Islamic societies The account presented in these 10 chapters is shaped by the author's first hand experiences of life in the Islamic world as well as his more than quarter century of research on the psychology of conflict and radicalism Moghaddam shows us why individuals who are recruited into terrorist organizations are convinced it is the only viable alternative They believe there are no effective legal means of expressing their grievances and participating in decision making so they become socialized to see terrorist organizations as legitimate The organizations they join train them to adopt an us vs them categorical view seeing all members outside their group including civilians as among the evil enemy ranks Looking at the perspective of the terrorist groups themselves Moghaddam explains why current U S policy focusing almost exclusively on individual terrorists and their eradication will achieve only short term gains He argues that the more effective long term policy against terrorism is prevention That he writes requires cultivation and nourishment of contextualized democracy through culturally appropriate avenues Only allowing people a greater voice and creating mobility opportunities for them will ensure that they do not feel a need to climb the staircase to terrorism
