Testicular Function From Gene Expression To Genetic Manipulation:

Testicular Function: From Gene Expression to Genetic Manipulation Mario Stefanini, Carla Boitani, Michaela Galdieri, Raffaele Geremia, Fioretta Palombi, 2013-06-29 This volume contains the text of the plenary lectures given by internationally recognized experts in the field of gametogenesis and endocrinology at the 10th European Workshop on Molecular and Cellular Endocrinology of the Testis Topics include spermatogonial transplantation germ stem cell biology regulation of meiosis and spermiogenesis growth factors cell signaling and transduction steroidogenesis androgen regulated genes sperm activation and sperm factors active at fertilization The present volume pays particular attention to the use of genetically manipulated animal models in the study of the regulation of spermatogenesis and testicular functions

Testicular Function, 1998 Testicular Tangrams F.F.G. Rommerts, K.J. Teerds, 2013-06-29 During the past two decades research on the testis has created a vast number of publications New techniques such as cell and gene cloning germ cell manipulation and transplantation as well as gene expression have surpassed the classical approaches that involved studies on receptor activation and endocrine paracrine and autocrine regulatory mechanisms Due to the expansion of this field of research it has become increasingly difficult to integrate the large number of observations and relate them to the physiology and pathophysiology of the testis More emphasis must therefore be put on the integration of isolated findings and the construction of the total picture In order to stimulate this specific mental activity we have named this book Testicular Tangram We hope that the chapters in this book will be used as pieces of the testicular puzzle and that the reader enjoys composing new shapes The chapters of this book are representative of the plenary lectures presented at the 10th European Workshop on Molecular and Cellular Endocrinology of the Testis held in Doorwerth The Netherlands from April 6-10 2002 Publication of this book has been made possible by the generous support of the Ernst Schering Research Foundation We would also like to thank the distinguished scientists who have provided us with their excellent manuscripts well before the start of the Workshop We acknowledge the help of Dr U F Habenicht Dr M

From Morphological Imaging to Molecular Targeting Markus Schwaiger, Ludger Dinkelborg, Hermann Schweinfurth, 2004-06-16 The current progress in molecular medicine allows the identification of a plethora of new and often human specific drug targets An early in vivo validation of specific ligands binding to these targets in humans is needed to assess their potential for targeted imaging and radiotherapy Radiopharmaceuticals are uniquely suitable for such target validation studies The purpose of the Ernst Schering Research Foundation Workshop 48 was to offer a forum for an open exchange on the state of the art in the early development of such radiopharmaceuticals Experts from academia industry and regulatory authorities provided contributions covering the identification of targets the necessary preclinical studies on the safety of ligands as well as their validation in human clinical trials The Histone Code and Beyond Shelley L. Berger, O. Nakanishi, Bernhard Haendler, 2007-01-19 Methylation of DNA at cytosine residues as well as post translational modifications of histones including phosphorylation acetylation methylation and ubiquitylation contribute to the epigenetic information carried by chromatin. These changes play an important role in the regulation of gene expression by modulating the access of regulatory factors to the DNA. The use of a combination of biochemical, genetic and structural approaches has allowed demonstration of the role of chromatin structure in transcriptional control. The structure of nucleosomes has been elucidated and enzymes involved in DNA or histone modifications have been extensively characterized. Since deregulation of epigenetic marks has been reported in many cancers, a better understanding of the underlying molecular mechanisms bears the promise that new drug targets may soon be found. The newest developments in this quickly developing field are presented in this book. The Role of Natural Products in Drug Discovery J. Mulzer, R. Bohlmann, 2013-04-17. Natural products have been important sources of useful drugs from prehistoric times to the present. This book gives an overview about this field and provides important recent contributions to the discovery of new drugs generated by research on natural products. Total synthesis of natural products with interesting biological activities is paving the way for the preparation of new and improved analogs. The methods of combinatorial chemistry permit the selection of the best drug from a large number of candidates. Beyond synthesis and evaluation of organic molecules, a number of new bioorganic methods are coming to the fore and will be discussed in this issue of the Ernst Schering Research Foundation workshop proceedings. Testis, Epididymis and Technologies in the Year 2000 B. Jegou, C. Pineau, J. Saez, 2013-06-29. A number of chapters present the most novel research on testicular and epididymal functions or on more general fields of hormone action and molecular cell biology as it is now a tradition. However, exceptionally, the book also contains several chapters dealing with the Approaches and Tools in the Third Millennium. The unusual inclusion of technologies as such in the 2000 edition of the workshop was an absolute necessity as these technologies are revolutionizing the fields of biology and medicine and in many instances how to do research. This volume gives the scientific community essential information about the very latest technical developments and their potential for future progress.

Androgen-Induced Activation of Sterol Regulatory Element-Binding Proteins (SREBPs) and Enhanced Lipogenesis in Tumor Cells Hannelore Heemers, 2003-12. This is a Ph.D. dissertation. Androgens are male sex hormones produced by the testes and to a lesser extent by the adrenals. Apart from their essential role in the development of the male phenotype, androgens are absolutely required for the maintenance of. Clinical Andrology Lars Björndahl, Aleksander Giwercman, Herman Tournaye, Wolfgang Weidner, 2010-06-03. A major new international reference work on andrology from the EAU Section of Andrological Urology covering such issues as male infertility, erectile dysfunction, late onset hypogonadism and reproductive cancers that engages with contemporary concern for evidence-based practice, minimizing interventions and promoting male reproductive health. New Mechanisms for Tissue-Selective Estrogen-Free Contraception H.B. Croxatto, R. Schürmann, U. Fuhrmann, I. Schellschmidt, 2007-01-19. Combined oral contraceptives are the most convenient and accepted method of hormonal contraception. Nevertheless, the medical community and consumers constantly demand innovation, additional benefits during use and lower hormonal load despite the high safety profile of available products At the Ernst Schering Research Foundation Workshop 52 new perspectives and mechanisms for tissue selective estrogen free contraception were discussed The aim of the workshop was to bring together experts in the field of molecular and pharmacodynamic action of progestins with clinicians and medical experts to discuss potential medical endpoints physiological reactions and bio marker useful describing the tissue selectivity and the contraceptive action of new progestins in different target organs A major factor for successful realization of these new concepts is a deeper understanding of local pharmacological responses to progestins in general and to new progestins in particular
