The New Age Of American Foreign Policy:

The New Age of American Foreign Policy Frederick H. Hartmann, 1970 The New Age of American Foreign Policy Frederick H. Hartmann, 1972 American Foreign Policy, 1991 The American Approach to Foreign Affairs Roger S. Whitcomb, 2001-02-28 America's foreign relations tradition for all its successes has not always served the American people well Utilizing tradition as a framework of analysis of the historic American approach to foreign affairs this book critically examines the country's international conduct over time leading to a number of provocative and controversial conclusions The first section deals with ideas ideals and ideology in American history that provide a context and value structure that have long conditioned the American people's conception of the world The second part critically examines the problematic American national style of interacting with others The nation's parochial approach to problem solving is explicated in the third section The fourth part centers upon the country's historic isolationist interventionist impulse a two-sided often contradictory dynamic The fifth section is an extended analysis of the country's approach to alliance building after World War II as a case study of its approach to foreign affairs in the past The final section proposes that America's traditional values and decision making style have often been incompatible and this contradiction has brought forth the exorcising role of violence in America's relationships with others US Foreign Policy in the Twenty-First Century J. Martin Rochester, 2018-05-04 The issues raised by the Iraq War are symptomatic of larger phenomena that will continue to preoccupy American foreign policy makers well into the twenty-first century The war on terror the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction humanitarian intervention and a litany of other concerns on the foreign policy agenda pose complex dilemmas for which there are no simple answers Through lucid lively analysis as well as multiple illustrations and case studies US Foreign Policy in the Twenty-First Century explores the difficult choices that confront the United States today in a complicated and often dangerous post Cold War environment Author J Martin Rochester engages students in an intelligent examination of American foreign policy past present and future involving them in critical thinking about how foreign policy is made what factors affect foreign policy decisions and behavior and how one might go about not only describing and explaining foreign policy but also evaluating it and prescribing solutions The Four Ages of American Foreign Policy Michael Mandelbaum, 2022 Independence 1765 1788 In the shadow of the French Revolution 1788 1815 The continental republic 1815 1865 Great power debut 1865 1914 The offshore balancer 1914 1933 The arsenal of democracy 1933 1945 The contest of systems 1945 1953 War improbable peace impossible A superpower dies in bed The new world order 1990 2001 Back to the future 2001 2015 Hearings, Reports and Prints of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs United States. Congress. House. Committee on Foreign Affairs (1789-1975), U.S. Foreign Policy Toward the Third World: A Post-cold War Assessment Jurgen Ruland, Theodor Hanf, Eva Manske, 2016-07-22 The contributors to this work examine the evolution of U S foreign policy toward the Third World and the new policy challenges facing developing nations in the post Cold War era The book

incorporates the key assessment standards of U S foreign policies directed toward critical regions including Latin America Africa the Middle East Central Asia and Southeast Asia Through this region by region analysis readers will get the information and insight needed to fully understand U S policy objectives especially with regard to economic and security issues in the wake of 9 11 vis a vis the developing world The book outlines both successes and failures of Washington as it seeks to deal with the Third World in a new era of terrorism trade and democratic enlargement It also considers whether anti Western sentiment in Third World regions is a direct result of U S foreign policies since the end of the Cold War

American Foreign Policy and the Utopian Imagination Susan M. Matarese, 2010-03-02 With the collapse of the Soviet Union and the end of the Cold War American decision makers have been forced to confront anew questions about the role of the United States in world affairs What are the responsibilities of the United States toward other countries What are the appropriate uses and limitation of American power And what from an American point of view would be the ideal shape of the imagined New World Order However U S policymakers may resolve such issues their thinking will be influenced by assumptions deeply embedded in American culture Some of those beliefs derive from the nation s distinctive history geography and resources But others are rooted in what Susan M Matarese calls the national image a set of emotionally charged relatively coherent ideas about the special qualities of the United States and its place in the world Building on a long tradition of scholarship that looks to works of literature for insights into national myths and symbols Matarese examines a rich trove of utopian fiction written by Americans during the late nineteenth century Such writings she shows provide a useful window into the popular imagination revealing widely shared notions about the foreign policy of an idealized America notions that have proven remarkably resilient in the twentieth century as well Indeed even in the post Cold War era one can find striking similarities between the foreign policy goals of the Bush and Clinton administrations and the dreams of America s utopian architects a century earlier The author concludes with an appeal for greater humility and realism in the formation of U S foreign policy and a recognition of the limits of American power in what is likely to be an increasingly fluid fragmented and multipolar world

International History of the Twentieth Century and Beyond Antony Best, Jussi M. Hanhimäki, Joseph A. Maiolo, Kirsten E.
