The New Forest An Ecological History:

The New Forest Colin Rodney Tubbs, 1986      Forests and Ecological History of Assam, 1826-2000 Arupjyoti Saikia, 2011-02-07 This book presents a comprehensive account of the transformation of Assam's forests and ecology from early nineteenth century to the end of the twentieth century. It locates present day ecological conflicts in the colonial era when contest over forest land and resource began to take new shape. Arupjyoti Saikia delineates how forest resources in Assam were mapped and integrated with merchant capitalism since the early nineteenth century. He shows how imperial forestry practices led to changes in traditional resource utilization patterns. The book also examines the political economy of conservation practices. It explores the question of law and conservation role of institutions and organizations and the changing role of the forests in imperial economy. The book argues how the making of forest policy in the postcolonial period was defined by the complexities of the political matrix. It discusses plantation silvicultural practices, protection and regeneration of forests and livelihood practices. The author also analyses public debates surrounding ecology and environmental changes in conservation practices after the 1980 Act.

Cultural Ecologies of the Land Patrick J. Dillon, 2025-04-15 Cultural Ecologies of the Land is a radical and challenging reassessment of the way we relate to the land and to infrastructure. There was a time when the land defined us. Now with each passing year we are increasingly detached from it. It was once the centre stage of humanity; now it is the setting for a technological drama. What has happened and why does it matter? This book is a multi-layered account of people and environment shaping each other through cumulative moment-to-moment, day-to-day change and a template for thinking about place, locality, belonging and identity. Cultural Ecologies of the Land presents the existential crisis that many believe we now face as a systemic problem arising from social institutions and forms of behaviour that have been marginalised with our dependency on modern infrastructure. It explains the part people have played in contributing to the crisis and how regenerating relationships with the land offers a route towards alleviating it. This is not only about acknowledging our impact on Earth but also about understanding ourselves in relation to it: how we engage with our surroundings, make sense of them, live and work in them and create narratives that connect and sustain us.

The Ecological Transition John W. Bennett, 2017-09-29 Written during the height of the ecology movement, The Ecological Transition is a stunning interdisciplinary work. It combines anthropology, ecology and sociology to formulate an understanding of cultural environmental relationships. While anthropologists have been studying relationships between humans and the physical environment for a very long time, only in the last thirty years have questions inherent in these relationships broadened beyond description and classification. For example, the concept of environment has been extended beyond the physical into the social. Although anthropologists have adopted many of the concepts that Bennett develops in the book, he also feels that the central issues have never been addressed either by anthropologists or by people in related disciplines. The most important of these in Bennett's opinion is the failure to incorporate a respect for the environmental in contemporary culture which would allow making exceptions in certain human practices in order to protect the environment His point in The Ecological Transition is that a basic cultural change in modern civilization is necessary to achieve this end Both a theoretical and a practical work The Ecological Transition emphasizes the relationships between human culture the physical environment technology and social policy The Ecological Transition is a challenging volume that makes us face the consequences of human behavior in the modern world its effect on pollution natural resources agriculture the economy and population to name just a few areas The book remains a significant contribution to the discourse on social economic and environmental problems While the book was first published in 1976 it still reads as a contemporary tract

The End of Tradition? Ian D. Rotherham, 2014 The threats from global cultural change and abandonment of traditional landscape management increased in the last half of the twentieth century and ten years into the twenty first century show no signs of slowing down Their impacts on global biodiversity and on people disconnected from their traditional landscapes pose real and serious economic and social problems which need to be addressed now The End of Tradition conference held in Sheffield UK was organised by Ian D Rotherham and colleagues It addressed the fundamental issues of whether we can conserve the biodiversity of wonderful and iconic landscapes and reconnect people to their natural environment And if we can how can we do so and make them relevant for the twenty first century The book is in two parts Part 1 A History of Commons and Commons Management and Part 2 Commons Current Management and Problems Forests and Global Change David A. Coomes, William D. Simonson, David F. R. P. Burslem, 2014-02-20 This book synthesises recent research across temperate and tropical forest ecosystems to present the numerous ways forests are responding to global change

Wessex: A Landscape History Hadrian Cook, 2024-04-04 Wessex is famous for its coasts heaths woodlands chalk downland limestone hills and gorges settlements and farmed vales This book provides an account of the physical form development and operation of its landscape as it was shaped by our ancestors Major themes include the development of agriculture settlements industry and transport Empire Forestry and the Origins of Environmentalism Gregory Allen Barton, 2002-10-17 What we now know of as environmentalism began with the establishment of the first empire forest in 1855 in British India and during the second half of the nineteenth century over ten per cent of the land surface of the earth became protected as a public trust Sprawling forest reservations many of them larger than modern nations became revenue producing forests that protected the whole household of nature and Rudyard Kipling and Theodore Roosevelt were among those who celebrated a new class of government foresters as public heroes Imperial foresters warned of impending catastrophe desertification and global climate change if the reverse process of deforestation continued The empire forestry movement spread through India Africa Australia New Zealand Canada and then the United States to other parts of the globe and Gregory Barton's study looks at the origins of environmentalism in a global perspective The New Cambridge Modern History Peter Burke, 1979 Annotation A comprehensive examination of the political economic social and cultural development
