The Nautical Style An Aspect Of The Functional Tradition:

The Nautical Style; an Aspect of the Functional Tradition, by Eric De Mare Eric Samuel De Maré, 1973 From the Lighthouse: Interdisciplinary Reflections on Light Veronica Strang, Tim Edensor, Joanna Puckering, 2018-04-27 What is a lighthouse What does it mean What does it do This book shows how exchanging knowledge across disciplinary boundaries can transform our thinking Adopting an unconventional structure this book involves the reader in a multivocal conversation between scholars poets and artists Seen through their individual perspectives lighthouses appear as signals of safety beacons of enlightenment phallic territorial markers and memorials of historical relationships with the sea However the interdisciplinary conversation also reveals underlying and sometimes unexpected connections It elucidates the human and non human evolutionary adaptations that use light for signalling and warning the visual languages created by regularity and synchronicity in pulses of light how lighthouses have generated a whole family of related material objects and technologies and the way that light flows between social and material worlds

Modernism and the Professional Architecture

Journal Torsten Schmiedeknecht, Andrew Peckham, 2018-06-27 The production of this book stems from two of the editors longstanding research interests the representation of architecture in print media and the complex identity of the second phase of modernism in architecture given the role it played in postwar reconstruction in Europe While the history of postwar reconstruction has been increasingly well covered for most European countries research investigating postwar architectural magazines and journals across Europe their role in the discourse and production of the built environment and particularly their inter relationship and differing conceptions of postwar architecture is relatively undeveloped Modernism and the Professional Architecture Journal sounds out this territory in a new collection of essays concerning the second phase of the reception and assimilation of modernism in architecture as it was represented in professional architecture journals during the period of postwar reconstruction 1945 1968 Professional architecture journals are often seen as conduits of established facts and knowledge The role mainstream publications play however in establishing movements trends or debates tends to be undervalued In the context of the complex undertaking of postwar reconstruction the shortage of resources political uncertainty and the biographical complexities of individual architects the chapters on key European architecture journals collected here reveal how modernist architecture and its discourse was perceived and disseminated in different European countries

Building the Post-war World Nicholas Bullock, 2002 Building the Post War World offers for the first time an overall account of Modern Architecture in the decade after the Second World War
