Testament Of Israel Potter:

The Testament of Israel Potter William Doreski, 1976 Life and Remarkable Adventures of Israel R. Potter Israel Potter, 1824 Herman Melville Maurice S. Lee, 2025 Herman Melville A Very Short Introduction tells the story of Melville's exciting and tragic life provides overviews of his minor and major works outlines critical questions arising from his writings and offers ways to interpret and enjoy his books A variety of readers will find value in this accessible introduction to Herman Melville Race, Transnationalism, and Nineteenth-Century American Literary Studies Robert S. Levine, 2018 This book offers new perspectives on race and transnationalism in nineteenth century American literary studies and ranges widely in developing new approaches to canonical and non canonical authors It will appeal to graduates and scholars working on nineteenth century American literature transnationalism and African American literary studies The Divine Election of Israel Seock-Tae Sohn, 2001-09-11 The Divine Election of Israel offers a comprehensive examination of Yahweh's election of Old Testament Israel By means of a detailed incisive and fruitful philological semantic analysis of the Bible's Hebrew text Seock Tae Sohn explores the connection between election and other major themes such as covenant rejection remnant and restoration Sohn traces the historical development of the idea of election and delineates the New Testament reflections of Old Testament election imagery His discerning study not only expands our understanding of election in the Scriptures but also powerfully demonstrates the linguistic richness and organic unity of the biblical text Melville and Aesthetics G. Sanborn, S. Otter, 2011-09-26 In an original and provocative series of readings that range across Melville's career the contributors consider not only the sources and implications of Melville's aesthetics but the relationship between aesthetic criticism historical analysis and contemporary theory Herman Melville and the American Calling William V. Spanos, 2009-07-01 Argues that Herman Melville's later work anticipates the resurgence of an American exceptionalist ethos underpinning the U S led global war on terror (Re)Visions of History in Language and Fiction Dorota Gutfeld, Monika Linke, Agnieszka Sowińska, 2013-02-21 In imagining history one must inevitably rely on its textual representations whether fictitious or supposedly objective yet always subject to the constraints and conventions of textuality Still it is precisely by exploiting and consciously relying on the textual in the presentation of the past that contemporary authors including politicians and makers of history strive to provide it with current significance emotional impact and universal meaning The study of such attempts benefits from a variety of perspectives encompassing not only classical but also popular texts and media An interdisciplinary collection of papers devoted to the issues of retelling rewriting and representation of the past in fiction and various text types this volume juxtaposes modern and post modern understanding of collective versus personal history The contributors are scholars specializing in literary studies e.g. postcolonialism and popular fiction linguistics e.g. critical discourse analysis and cultural studies e.g. media studies bringing a wide spectrum of theoretical insights into the field The collection opens with papers on the general changes in viewing history that have occurred since the 19th century

Further papers discuss postcolonial feminist and gender related perspectives on history reflected in postmodern fiction revealing the power struggle around the depiction of the past The next part of the volume is devoted to the presentation of historical breakthroughs in political and media discourse Finally the collection draws attention to some unorthodox visions of history involving alternative worlds and fantastic elements encountered in the genre of speculative fiction

Fictions of the Past Alide Cagidemetro, 1993 This work explores the relationship between history and fiction in the works of Nathaniel Hawthorne and Herman Melville As Alide Cagidemetro shows both writers were preoccupied with a past a preoccupation whose antecedents could be traced to the novels of Walter Scott Yet they departed from established tradition in significant ways Unlike their literary predecessors who sought historical authenticity in the representation of past events Hawthorne and Melville upheld a new idea of history one based on the relevance of past to present and by extension of present to future Cagidemetro grounds her analysis in the cultural context in which Hawthorne and Melville wrote an era of unprecedented change when signs of the past were disappearing at an ever quickening pace Focusing on Hawthorne's Legends of the Province House and his unfinished romances and on Melville's much neglected Israel Potter she demonstrates how both writers consciously experimented in writing the past anew Together their historical fictions reflect the rise of a modern historical consciousness as Henry James calls it as well as an effort to give form to the chaotic flux of change over time

All the Parables of the Bible Herbert Lockyer, 1963 A study and analysis of the more than 250 parables in Scripture
