Technologies for Sustainable Development Jean-Claude Bolay,Silvia Hostettler,Eileen Hazboun,2013-08-04 Whilst scientific research can be crucial in guiding innovation and development throughout the world it can be too detached from real world applications particularly in developing and emerging countries Technologies for Sustainable Development brings together the best 20 papers from the 2012 Conference of the EPFL UNESCO Chair in Technologies for Development with the aim to explore and discuss ways to link scientific research with development practices to assist practitioners and reply directly to social needs In order for technologies to be adopted it is not sufficient that they are low cost and affordable but also socially culturally and environmentally accepted by the intended users Technologies for Sustainable Development aims to explore and answer the following three questions What is an appropriate technology How can we ensure a sustainable integrated development What are the conditions for co creation and transfer of such technologies Focusing on the importance of improving working relationships between stakeholders researchers and decision makers between scientists and industrial sectors between academics and the population Technologies for Sustainable Development opens a dialogue necessary to create and implement the best solutions adapted to social demands Rural Energy To Meet Development Needs M. Nurul Islam,Richard Morse,M. Hadi Soesastro,Marwoto Hadi Soesastro,2019-09-05 This volume had its origin at a conference held in 1978 at the East West Center that considered the short and long term energy problems of the Asia Pacific region That group of national energy policymakers scientists and technologists agreed that providing adequate energy for the rural areas of the developing countries looms large as one of the more critical problems of the region Encouraged by this consensus the East West Resource Systems Institute obtained a grant from the Agency for International Development for the purpose of initiating a collaborative multi country study of rural energy problems The National Research Council of Thailand and the East West Center agreed to work closely together as twin foci for the coordination of the effort Peace Corps Times ,1984 Stoves and Trees Gerald Foley,Patricia Moss,Lloyd Timberlake,2024-06-25 Originally published in 1984 Stoves and Trees asks whether better stoves really help the two billion people in the developing world who rely on wood and charcoal for cooking and heating their homes It also asks if improved stoves actually save fuel and if they can help slow down tropical deforestation The book not only examines newer stoves but also ascertains how people buy collect and use wood in the developing world It finds that most forests are cleared for timber or farmland not fuelwood and explains why stoves which show 50% energy savings in European laboratories often save little or none in village homes Renewable Energy Technologies L. A. Kristoferson,V. Bokalders,2013-10-22 Renewable Energy Technologies Their Applications in Developing Countries presents an overview and assessment of technologies for energy related projects in the rural sector of developing countries This book discusses the important but not dominant role that new and renewable sources of energy NARSE will have in the Third World Bioenergy fuel sources come from wood fuel energy crops agricultural residue and organic wastes peat biomass briquettes biogas and animal power The text also describes the problems related to operating biomass engines and to the production of engine fuels such as alcohol fuels vegetable oil producer gas made from wood and charcoal These problems concern land use and site location for growing these fuel crops government policies or subsidies as well as competition with prevailing petrol prices Solar water heaters and photovoltaic cells can be used by households and in bigger institutions ongoing technological developments mainly focus on cutting down costs and better manufacturing methods The book also addresses other NARSE such as hydro wind and water power generation This book is suitable for economists environmentalists ecologists and policy makers involved in energy conservation and rural development Improved Cooking Stoves in Developing Countries Gerald Foley, 1985 Technical report on fuel saving stoves in developing countries examines use of open fires traditional stoves patterns of fuel supply and consumption efficiency discusses the energy content and combustion process of fuelwood charcoal coal etc As well as the smoke problem evaluates stove programmes includes a historical perspective of domestic fuels Bibliography and photographs Guidelines for Planning, Monitoring and Evaluating Cookstove Programmes Stephen Joseph, 1990
