The text provides a lifespan developmental approach to neuropsychology. It addresses the many issues in neuropsychological assessment that differ between younger and older adults. It describes the symptoms, neuropathology, diagnostic considerations, and treatment options of common neurological disorders associated with aging. It also addresses special considerations related to geriatric neuropsychology such as ethical issues, family systems issues, decision making capacity, cultural consideration, and medical medication substance use issues. Additionally, a list of resources for the elderly and their families is also provided.

Understanding Second Language Learning Difficulties Madeline E. Ehrman, 1996-09-26
The insights, techniques, and skills needed to understand why some adult students have difficulties with learning a second language are presented in this book. The author's premise is that what appears on the surface is often not the real source of the learner's difficulty. A correct diagnosis of the cause of the problem is important if intervention is to prove effective. The book presents a large number of theories and models of learning and covers areas including learning styles and personality dispositions, student motivation, self-efficacy, and anxiety, and how to interview students.

Handbook of Psychodiagnostic Testing Henry Kellerman, Anthony Burry, 2007-08-26
