The Hellenistic Pottery from Sardis Susan I. Rotroff, Andrew Oliver, 2003 This work presents a comprehensive catalogue of the Hellenistic pottery found at Sardis by two archaeological expeditions The main catalogue includes over 750 items from the current excavations in addition material from some 50 Hellenistic tombs excavated in the early twentieth century is published in its entirety for the first time

Hellenistic Pottery Sarah A. James, 2018-08-20 Using deposits recently excavated from the Panayia Field this volume substantially revises the absolute chronology of Corinthian Hellenistic pottery as established by G Roger Edwards in Corinth VII 3 1975 This new research based on quantitative analysis of over 50 deposits demonstrates that the date range for most fine ware shapes should be lowered by 50 100 years Contrary to previous assumptions it is now possible to argue that local ceramic production continued in Corinth during the interim period between the destruction of the city in 146 B C and when it was refounded as a Roman colony in 44 B C This volume includes detailed shape studies and a comprehensive catalogue With its presentation of this revised Panayia Field chronology Corinth VII 7 is a long awaited and much needed addition to the Corinth series Hellenistic Pottery Susan I. It was established in the Iron Age II circa 700 BCE and is mentioned in the Hebrew Bible Josh 15:44 I Chron 2:42. But it was mainly a Hellenistic period town, a major Idumean political and administrative center. One of the unique and fascinating aspects of Maresha is its subterranean city, hundreds of underground galleries and chambers filled to the gills with artifacts. This volume is a report of the excavations of one of these rich subterranean complexes SC 169 which contained a full corpus of Hellenistic pottery forms, both local and exotic, altars, figurines, amulets, seals, and seal impressions, hundreds of inscriptions in Greek and Aramaic, coins, jewelry, and much more. These finds tell the story of an affluent cosmopolitan society comprised of Idumeans, Phoenicians, Greeks, and Jews who lived together in a vibrant urban setting until the city was destroyed, probably by the Jewish Hasmonean kingdom, in 104 BCE.

Pottery, Peoples and Places Pia Guldager Bilde, Mark L. Lawall, 2014-05-14 The late Hellenistic period, spanning the 2nd and early 1st centuries BC, was a time of great tumult and violence thanks to nearly incessant warfare. At the same time, the period saw the greatest expansion of Hellenistic Greek culture, including ceramics. Papers in this volume explore problems of ceramic chronology, often based on evidence dependent on the violent nature of the period, survey trends in both production and consumption of Hellenistic ceramics, particularly in Asia Minor and the Pontic region, and assess the impact of Hellenistic ceramic culture across much of the eastern Mediterranean and into the Black Sea. The Oxford Handbook of Ancient Anatolia Sharon R. Steadman, Gregory McMahon, 2011-09-15 This title provides comprehensive overviews on archaeological, philological, linguistic, and historical issues at the forefront of Anatolian scholarship in the 21st century. Lydian Painted Pottery Abroad R. Gül Gürtekin-Demir, 2021-10-15 This book is the first major study of Lydian material culture at Gordion and also the first published monograph on Lydian painted pottery from any site excavation. Richly illustrated, it provides a comprehensive definition and analysis of Lydian ceramics based on stylistic, archaeological, and textual evidence while thoroughly documenting the material's stratigraphic contexts. The book situates the ceramic corpus within its broader Anatolian cultural context and offers insights into the impact of Lydian cultural interfaces at Gordion. The Lydian pottery found at Gordion was largely produced at centers other than Sardis, the Lydian royal capital, although Sardian imports are also well attested and began to influence Gordion's material culture as early as the 7th century BCE, if not before. Following the demise of the Lydian kingdom, a more limited repertoire of Lydian ceramics demonstrably continued in use at Gordion into the Achaemenid Persian period, in the late 6th and 5th centuries BCE. The material was excavated by Professor Rodney Young's team between 1950 and 1973 and is fully presented here for the first time. Ongoing research in the decades following Young's excavations has led to a more refined understanding of Gordion's archaeological contexts and chronology, and consequently we are now able to view the Lydian ceramic corpus within a more secure stratigraphic framework than would have been the case if the material had been published shortly after the excavations Ritual, Performance, and Politics in the Ancient Near East Lauren Ristvet, 2015 In this book Lauren Ristvet rethinks the narratives of state formation by investigating the interconnections between ritual performance and politics in the ancient Near East She draws on a wide range of archaeological iconographic and cuneiform sources to show how ritual performance was not set apart from the real practice of politics it was politics Rituals provided an opportunity for elites and ordinary people to negotiate political authority Descriptions of rituals from three periods explore the networks of signification that informed different societies From circa 2600 to 2200 BC pilgrimage made kingdoms out of previously isolated villages Similarly from circa 1900 to 1700 BC commemorative ceremonies legitimated new political dynasties by connecting them to a shared past Finally in the Hellenistic period the traditional Babylonian Akitu festival was an occasion for Greek speaking kings to show that they were Babylonian and for Babylonian priests to gain significant power
