resources and a bibliography for further reading Even before the first Chinese dynasty complex societies inhabiting the area now known as China organized into settlements and the most important settlements were protected by rammed earth walls The first dynasty the Shang 1600 1050 BCE built large walls as early as around 1 550 BCE Differing from later walls which were built along a strategic defense line these walls were built to enclose the settlements and areas The Shang would eventually be conquered from the west by the Zhou Dynasty 1046 256 BCE which developed a complex system of government In fact it was the Zhou system's decline that Confucius 551 479 BCE witnessed and drew from greatly for his political philosophy The Zhou also created walled cities and it was at this time that the first major conflicts with northern tribesmen the Xianyun were recorded As the newly independent states vied for supremacy in a state of constant warfare northern barbarians were also a constant menace Eventually the Chinese succeeded in eliminating many of those on their immediate northern border but it was a bittersweet victory because it meant there was no longer a buffer between China and the even fiercer Mongols further north This new proximity led to increased cultural exchange as well as the Chinese adoption of nomadic fighting techniques Ultimately it was the wall of the state of Qi that was the first to earn the name great literally long wall because the state of Qin proved most adept at the new warfare and conquered all the others It was this dynasty that unified the kingdoms under the name of China but put simply the Qin were a war machine They defeated the Mongols north of the border and expanded their control there while also fighting expansionary wars in all directions The first Qin emperor died 11 years into his reign and was buried with the famous Terracotta warriors These soldiers and equipment all carved out of stone and other materials formed an imperial army that would accompany the emperor into the afterlife After the emperor's death rebellion and strife took hold of the empire and soon a new dynasty the Han dynasty 206 BCE 220 CE was founded The previous emperor Meng Tian was forced to commit suicide and the Han dynasty became known for maintaining a long period of wealth and prosperity during which Confucianism and other major intellectual trends in China flowered However they had trouble with the nomads in the north too and after suffering decisive military defeats the Han decided that only through a policy of peace and reconciliation could they manage relations with the Xiongnu They offered material goods and marriages and the border was secured but walls were also still obviously necessary Ultimately the massive investment in military expansion and conquest reaped great rewards for the Han but all came at a very dear cost to the empire As a result of their growing militarism the trend of using diplomacy slowly fell out of favor around the start of the 1st century CE but even when the old structure of peace and diplomacy with the northerners was reinstated the Xiongnu were asked to submit to a nominally inferior position in their relationship with China It appeared to be a compromise that would benefit both sides but soon afterward a Han regent usurped power and the kingdom fell into civil war The dynasty recovered at the time but never fully and it continued on the path of steady decline The Han Dynasty The History and Legacy of Ancient China's Most Influential Empire examines how the Han dynasty took control of China and the impact of their reign from China all the way to Rome would take its name from that prized export and capitalized upon the technological advances within its country to witness an agricultural revolution that predated Europe's farming innovations by hundreds of years. The Western Han dynasty was a lineage that began with the rise to power of a peasant capable and far-sighted whose scorned wife retaliated against his favorite consort after his death in a brutal manner. Women had their defined role in the hierarchy of the court and although they could not inherit the Dragon Throne, their influence was made known through their roles as the wife of the emperor and then as the mother and grandmother of the coming emperors. The domestic alliances of the imperial family were quite often at odds with the wishes of the emperor himself, creating a volatile mix of ambition and retribution. Under the Western Han rulers, China established its impressive reputation in the Ancient World, a reputation which rivaled that of the Roman Empire across the continents.

The History of Education in Qin and Han Dynasty Li Shi, The book is the volume of The History of Education in Qin and Han Dynasty among a series of books of Deep into China Histories. The earliest known written records of the history of China date from as early as 1250 BC from the Shang dynasty c. 1600-1046 BC and the Bamboo Annals 296 BC describe a Xia dynasty c. 2070-1600 BC before the Shang, but no writing is known from the period. The Shang ruled in the Yellow River valley, which is commonly held to be the cradle of Chinese civilization. However, Neolithic civilizations originated at various cultural centers along both the Yellow River and Yangtze River. These Yellow River and Yangtze civilizations arose millennia before the Shang. With thousands of years of continuous history, China is one of the world's oldest civilizations and is regarded as one of the cradles of civilization. The Zhou dynasty 1046-256 BC supplanted the Shang and introduced the concept of the Mandate of Heaven to justify their rule. The central Zhou government began to weaken due to external and internal pressures in the 8th century BC and the country eventually splintered into smaller states during the Spring and Autumn period. These states became independent and warred with one another in the following Warring States period. Much of traditional Chinese culture, literature, and philosophy first developed during those troubled times. In 221 BC, Qin Shi Huang conquered the various warring states and created for himself the title of Huangdi, or emperor of the Qin, marking the beginning of imperial China. However, the oppressive government fell soon after his death and was supplanted by the longer lived Han dynasty 206 BC 220 AD Successive dynasties developed bureaucratic systems that enabled the emperor to control vast territories directly In the 21 centuries from 206 BC until AD 1912 routine administrative tasks were handled by a special elite of scholar officials Young men well versed in calligraphy history literature and philosophy were carefully selected through difficult government examinations China's last dynasty was the Qing 1644 1912 which was replaced by the Republic of China in 1912 and in the mainland by the People's Republic of China in 1949 Chinese history has alternated between periods of political unity and peace and periods of war and failed statehood the most recent being the Chinese Civil War 1927 1949 China was occasionally dominated by steppe peoples most of whom were eventually assimilated into the Han Chinese culture and population Between eras of multiple kingdoms and warlordism Chinese dynasties have ruled parts or all of China in some eras control stretched as far as Xinjiang and Tibet as at present Traditional culture and influences from other parts of Asia and the Western world carried by waves of immigration cultural assimilation expansion and foreign contact form the basis of the modern culture of China
