The New Brunswick Militia Commissioned Officers' List, 1787-1867 David Richard Facey-Crowther, New Brunswick Genealogical Society, New Brunswick. Bicentennial Commission, 1984 Development of Elites in Acadian New Brunswick, 1861-1881 Sheila M. Andrew, 1996-11-05 Challenging accepted notions that elite dominance defined Acadian ideology Sheila Andrew attributes the development of the Acadian elites not to the Acadian renaissance or an Acadian nationalist spirit but to emerging economic and political opportunities Through an objective analysis of the formation and composition of elites in New Brunswick from 1861 to 1881 Andrew argues that there was no single elite class among Acadians only a series of elites who were neither united nor in a position to influence Acadian society as a whole She identifies four elite classes the farming elite the commercial elite the educated elite which includes priests and professionals and the political elite and examines their family and community backgrounds and career paths to determine how they achieved elite status She investigates patterns of networking growth and continuity among elites as well as the relationship between elites and non elites Arguing that Acadian nationalism did not fit the traditional pattern of nationalism in a colonized country because of the peculiar nature of Acadian society and the minority status of francophone Acadians within anglophone New Brunswick she situates the Acadian experience within the context of other cultural and linguistic minorities Petty Justice Paul Craven, 2014-10-07 Until the late nineteenth century the most common form of local government in rural England and the British Empire was administration by amateur justices of the peace the sessions system Petty Justice uses an unusually well documented example of the colonial sessions system in Loyalist New Brunswick to examine the role of justices of the peace and other front line low law officials like customs officers and deputy land surveyors in colonial local government Using the rich archival resources of Charlotte County Paul Craven discusses issues such as the impact of commercial rivalries on local administration the role of low law officials in resolving civil and criminal disputes and keeping the peace their management of public works social welfare and liquor regulation and the efforts of grand juries high court judges colonial governors and elected governments to supervise them A concluding chapter explains the demise of the sessions system in Charlotte County in the decade of Confederation Dictionary of Canadian Biography / Dictionnaire Biographique Du Canada Ramsay Cook, Jean Hamelin, 1966 Internet version contains all the information in the 14 volume print and CD ROM versions fully searchable by keyword or by browsing the name index Dictionary of Canadian Biography / Dictionnaire Biographique Du Canada Frances G.
