Sir Robin Day Memoirs:

Two Decades in British Politics Bill Jones, Lynton J. Robins, 1992 Celebrates the 21st anniversary of The Politics Association and offers a reassessment of the continuities and changes in the governments led by Wilson Heath Callaghan and Thatcher The book asks whether 1979 was a political watershed or an undistinguished step in Britain's economic decline

Lord Gnome's Literary Companion Francis Wheen, 1994 His review has got to be in by mid day tomorrow at about 9 pm his mind will grow relatively clear and until the small hours he will sit skipping expertly through one book after another and laying each one down with the comment God what tripe Then suddenly he will snap into it All the stale old phrases a book that no one should miss something memorable on every page jump into their places like iron filings obeying the magnet Thus did George Orwell writing forty years ago in Confessions of a Book Reviewer describe the labours of a typical literary hack Precious little has changed over the intervening decades the servility of the satirical magazine Private Eye Lord Gnome's Literary Companion assembles in thematic order the best of these columns to present an astringent rude and funny survey of publishers and the published Memories of Maggie Iain Dale, 2000 Memories of Maggie brings together personal reminiscences and anecdotes from those who experienced close encounters with the Iron Lady including Norman Tebbit Cecil Parkinson Kenneth Baker George Bush Helmut Kohl John Gummer and William Hague Electing Our Masters Jon Lawrence, 2009-03-26 In this engagingly written history of electioneering in Britain from the eighteenth century to the present Jon Lawrence explores the changing relationship between politicians and public Throughout this period he argues British politics has been characterized by bruising public rituals intended to bestow legitimacy on politicians by obliging them to face an often irreverent public on broadly equal terms Face to face interaction was central both to the disorderly civic rituals of eighteenth century politics and to the Victorian and Edwardian election meeting Perhaps surprisingly it also survived in pretty rude health between the wars despite the emergence of the new mass communication media of radio and cinema But the same cannot be said of the post war era and the rise of television Today most politicians are content merely to offer the semblance of meaningful engagement walkabouts canvassing and meetings are all designed to ensure that most senior politicians come into contact only with the smiling faces of that dwindling band the party faithful Lloyd George and Churchill might have relished the rough and tumble of a tumultuous public meeting but their modern counterparts tend to be more risk averse and not without reason given that the cameras are always present to capture their mishaps But this is not another nostalgic lament for a lost golden age On the contrary Electing Our Masters argues that politicians frequently still crave the kudos to be derived from bruising encounters with an irreverent public hence Tony Blair's so called masochism strategy in the 2005 election campaign with its succession of gruelling sessions before live studio audiences As Lawrence points out the vital question for today is can we persuade our broadcasters that such encounters must form a staple of modern mediated politics Communicating Politics in the Twenty-First Century Karen Sanders, 2017-09-16 From propaganda to protests this book provides an in depth study of politics and the media today Using historical and contemporary examples Sanders covers the essential theory and key research in the field Topical and comprehensive this book covers everything students need to know about the global world of political communication Sand and Steel Peter Caddick-Adams,2019-04-22 Part of a trilogy covering the last year of fighting in the European theater of World War II and in time for the 75th anniversary of D Day Sand and Steel gives us the full story of the Allied invasion of France Dance of the Peacocks James McNeish,2013-03-01 The true story of five talented young men in exile in the time of Hitler and Mao Tse Tung Altogether they knew five wars three revolutions and in the case of Ian Milner accused in the Cold War of being a spy a slander Regarded by one critic as the best book published in New Zealand in the last twenty years this is a fascinating story based on letters diaries and interviews in several countries It is the story of a group of Rhodes scholars five young men James Bertram Geoffrey Cox Dan Davin Ian Milner John Mulgan caught up in the turmoil of their times Spain Hitler s Germany Greece and North Africa Eastern Europe China They left New Zealand in the thirties for the dreaming spires of Oxford War intervened Only one returned Independent Television in Britain Jeremy Potter,2016-07-27 The ITV network was designed as a federation of companies different in size and character jointly and severally constructing programme schedules in which strands of entertainment were interwoven with news bulletins drama with sport feature films with documentaries church services with broadcasting for schools The purpose of this volume is to convey some impression of diversity by illustrating and illuminating the rich assortment of companies and programmes making up ITV s overall service to the public in the operation of a plural system on a single television channel during a peak period in British broadcasting The Review of the BBC's Royal Charter Great Britain: Parliament: House of Lords: Select Committee on the BBC Charter Review,2005-11 The Committee s report examines the Government s proposals for the future of the BBC as set out in the Government s Green Paper A strong BBC independent of government published by the DCMS in March 2005 for consultation The Committee s conclusions include i that the BBC s mandate and structure should be defined in statute rather than by Royal Charter ii the licence fee is the best way to fund the BBC over the next decade although the system for agreeing the cost of the fee should be more transparent with the BBC bid subject to independent investigation by the NAO iii the Government rather than the licence fee payer should fund the costs of the analogue switch off and iv the Government s proposals for reforming the governance and regulation of the BBC are confusing misguided and unworkable A further report is due to be published by the Committee in Spring 2005 which will focus on the role of the BBC in the nations and the regions the BBC World Service and the broadcasting of sport and religion Diaries, 1971-1983 James Lees-Milne,Michael Bloch,2011-12-21 Funny indiscreet candid touching and sharply observed this second compilation from James Lees Milne s celebrated diaries covers his life during his sixties and early seventies when he was living in Gloucestershire with his formidable wife Alvilde It vividly portrays life on the Badminton estate of the eccentric Duke of Beaufort meetings with many friends including John Betjeman

Bruce Chatwin and the Mitford sisters and the diarist's varied emotional experiences Having made his name as the National Trust's country houses expert and a writer on architecture he now established himself as a novelist and biographer With some misgivings he published his wartime diaries little imagining that it was as a diarist that he would achieve lasting fame
