T. Siebert, 2013-10-10 The inevitability of death that of others and our own is surely among our greatest anxieties Mortality s Muse The Fine Art of Dying explores how art mainly literary art addresses that troubling reality While religion and philosophy offer important consolations for life s end art responds in ways that are perhaps more complete and certainly more deeply human Among subjects treated the ars moriendi or art of dying tradition the contrast between past and more recent cultural values the religious consolation s value but shortcoming for some people the role of art in offering a secular consolation dying as a performing art the philosophic ideal of good death the lively appeal of carpe diem or living for the present moment the elegiac sense of life and the two opposite parts Mortality's Muse has played in dealing with war the most senseless and unnecessary cause of death The idea of an aesthetic sense of life forms the basis of these discussions Human beings are makers in the largest sense of the word and art represents everything they make civilization itself with all its greatness and failings Our civilization may ultimately be nothing but an evanescent blip in the cosmos Even so the creation of beauty meaning and purpose from disorder and suffering defines us as human beings In the words of Robinson Jeffers even if monuments eventually crumble and all art perish yet for thousands of years carved stones have stood and pained thoughts found the honey of peace in old poems *Manual of Classical Literature. premise that every first person statement in ancient literature is in some way rhetorically modelled and aesthetically shaped Focusing on different types of Greek and Latin literature poetry and prose from the Archaic Age to Late Antiquity the contributions analyse the use and modelling of gender specific elements in different types of first person speech be it that the speaker is represented as the author of a work be it that they feature as characters in the work narrating their own story or that of others In doing so they do not only offer new insights into the rhetorical strategies and literary techniques used to construct a gendered I in ancient literature They also address the form and function of first person discourse in classical literature in general touching on fields of research that have increasingly come into focus in recent years such as authorship studies studies concerning the ancient notions of the literary persona as well as a historical narratology that discusses concepts such as the narrator or the literary character in ancient literary theory and practice
