That Sense For Meaning:

Making Sense out of Meaning Walter Hirtle, 2013-11-01 In his exploration of word meaning Walter Hirtle examines an important and controversial topic in lexical semantics polysemy the capacity of words to manifest a range of different meanings when employed in different contexts Building on the work of French linguist Gustave Guillaume Making Sense out of Meaning is a speaker oriented study that describes how speakers form word meaning and not as in other theories how listeners interpret the meaning of what they hear Hirtle develops a general model of the ways in which words and word meaning may be realized in discourse contexts and addresses such issues as the demarcation of polysemy and monosemy metaphorical meaning parts of speech and the concept of conversion or zero derivation Bringing together both lexical and grammatical components Hirtle shows that distinct lexical senses can be observed and their relations can be understood by focusing on speakers use of verbs and nouns A methodical and thoughtful work Making Sense out of Meaning situates its central question by recalling traditional views of language s relation to thought and argues for meaning as a valid object of scientific inquiry

The Social Meaning of the Senses Paul Eisewicht, Ronald Hitzler, Lisa Schäfer, 2023-08-21 That which we consider to be real we call knowledge As a rule we consider what our five senses convey to us to be real Our perception and what we consider real and construct as socially effective differs depending on which senses we focus on and how intensively The connection between reality constructions and sensory conditions has received little attention in social research so far This concerns for example the use of our sensory organs for empirical reconstructions of bodies of knowledge sensory perceptions as part of bodies of knowledge or the question of how far knowledge is dependent on sensory abilities This anthology attempts to close this gap by focusing on the social significance of sensory perceptions and discussing it using the example of various objects of investigation This book is a translation of an original German edition The translation was done with the help of artificial intelligence machine translation by the service DeepL com A subsequent human revision was done primarily in terms of content so that the book will read stylistically differently from a conventional translation

The Oxford Handbook of Stress, Health, and Coping Susan Folkman Ph.D., 2010-11-30 Few publications have changed the landscape of contemporary psychology more than Richard Lazarus and Susan Folkman s landmark work Stress Appraisal and Coping Its publication in 1984 set the course for years of research on the dynamic processes of psychological stress and coping in human beings Now more than a quarter century later The Oxford Handbook of Stress Health and Coping pushes the field even further with a comprehensive overview of the newest and best work in this dynamic subject Edited by Susan Folkman and comprising chapters by the field s leading scientists this new volume details the expanded knowledge base that has emerged from extensive research on stress and coping processes over the last several decades Featuring 22 topic based chapters including two by Folkman this volume offers unprecedented coverage of the two primary research topics related to stress and coping mitigating stress related harms and sustaining well being in the face of stress Both topics are addressed

Dual-Aspect Monism and the Deep Structure of Meaning Harald Atmanspacher, Dean Rickles, 2022-03-29 Dual Aspect Monism and the Deep Structure of Meaning investigates the metaphysical position of dual aspect monism with particular emphasis on the concept of meaning as a fundamental feature of the fabric of reality As an alternative to other positions mainly dualism physicalism idealism that have been proposed to understand consciousness and its place in nature the decompositional version of dual aspect monism considers the mental and the physical as two aspects of one underlying undivided reality that is psychophysically neutral Inspired by analogies with modern physics and driven by its conceptual problems Wolfgang Pauli Carl Gustav Jung Arthur Eddington John Wheeler David Bohm and Basil Hiley are the originators of the approaches studied A radically novel common theme in their approaches is the constitutive role of meaning and its deep structure relating the mental and the physical to a psychophysically neutral base The authors reconstruct the formal structure of these approaches and compare their conceptual emphases as well as their relative strengths and weaknesses They also address a number of challenging themes for current and future interdisciplinary research both theoretical and empirical that arise from the presented frameworks of thinking Dual Aspect Monism and the Deep Structure of Meaning will be of interest to researchers and advanced students working in consciousness studies philosophy of mind philosophy of science philosophy of physics metaphysics and the history of 20th century philosophy and physics

Sense, Reference, and Philosophy Jerrold J. Katz, 2004-01-01 Sense Reference and Philosophy develops the far reaching consequences for philosophy of adopting non Fregean intensionalism showing that long standing problems in the philosophy of language and indeed other areas that appeared intractable can now be solved Katz proceeds to examine some of those problems in this new light including the problem of names natural kind terms the Liar Paradox the distinction between logical and extra logical vocabulary and the Raven paradox In each case a non Fregean intentionalism provides a philosophically more satisfying solution

Nonsense and Meaning in Ancient Greek Comedy Stephen E. Kidd, 2014-06-12 This book employs the concept of nonsense to explore those parts of Greek comedy perceived as just silly and therefore not meaningful

Blending Spaces Arnd Witte, 2014-10-09 This book comprehensively analyzes the development of interculturally blended third spaces by the second language learner beginning with the linguistic and sociocultural imprints of the first language and culture on the mind and culminating in the proposal of a phase model of the development of intercultural competence The foundational analysis of L1 mediated constructs is followed by an analysis of forms interaction concepts of identity and constructs of culture interculture thus shifting the object of analysis from the subjective to the intersubjective levels of construction and interaction The focus of the book is on the gradual development of interculturally blended third spaces in the mind of the learner as genuinely new bases for construction This book takes an interdisciplinary approach drawing on research in cultural psychology linguistic anthropology critical theory language acquisition and second language learning and shows how culture and interculture need to be emphasized as an integral part of second language learning

Learning for Meaning's Sake Stephanie Mackler, 2009-01-01 Universities and the societies they serve suffer from a crisis of meaning We have fanatically developed our ability to produce knowledge leaving our ability to craft meaning by the wayside University graduates often have an abundance of knowledge but lack the wisdom to use it meaningfully Meanwhile people inside and outside academia are searching for meaning but are imprisoned in a lexicon of clichés and sound bites that stunts their quest In response Learning for Meaning's Sake begins with the assertion that higher education in the 21st century should renounce its obsession with job training and knowledge production and should instead turn toward questions of meaning Drawing upon a diverse range of philosophical thought Learning for Meaning's Sake offers the vision and philosophical foundation for a new type of higher learning one that is devoted to the existential questions at the core of human existence
