Textual Practice V13 Taylor & Francis Group, Textual Practice Terence Hawkes, 1993-11-04 Since its launch in 1987 Textual Practice has established itself as Britain s leading journal of radical literary theory This special issue examines the theme of Desire A Postmodern Reader Joseph P. Natoli, Linda Hutcheon, 1993-01-01 These readings are organized into four sections The first explores the wellsprings of the debates in the relationship between the postmodern and the enterprise it both continues and contravenes modernism Here philosophers social and political commentators as well as cultural and literary analysts present controversial background essays on the complex history of postmodernism The readings in the second section debate the possibility or desirability of trying to define the postmodern given its cultural agenda of decentering challenging even undermining the guiding master narratives of Western culture The readings in the third section explore postmodernism s complicated complicity with these very narratives while the fourth section moves from theory to practice in order to investigate in a variety of fields the common denominators of the postmodern condition in action

Formal Investigations: Aesthetic Style in Late-Victorian and Edwardian Detective Fiction Paul Fox, Koray Melikoglu, 2014-05-01 The essays in this revised and expanded volume explore a variety of structuring taxonomies the relationships between the aesthetic forms styles and methodologies of detective and crime fiction in the late Victorian and Edwardian period The influences on the artists in the genre are as varied as the interests of the period in scientific method forensics archaeology aesthetics medicine and the paranormal But the formalizing tendencies of investigative process remain and it is this adherence in artist and detective alike to seeing crime and its resolution as a stylistic imposition of structure on disorder that is under examination
