Australian Bushrangers 1788-1880 Ian Knight,2019-05-30 The first bushrangers or frontier outlaws were escaped or time expired convicts who took to the wilderness the bush in New South Wales and on the island of Tasmania Initially the only Crown forces available were redcoats from the small scattered garrisons but by 1825 the problem of outlawry led to the formation of the first Mounted Police from these soldiers The gold strikes of the 1860s attracted a new group of men who preferred to get rich by the gun rather than the shovel The roads and later railways that linked the mines with the cities offered many tempting targets and were preyed upon by the bushrangers This 1860s generation boasted many famous outlaws who passed into legend for their boldness The last outbreak came in Victoria in 1880 when the notorious Kelly Gang staged several hold ups and deliberately ambushed the pursuing police Their last stand at Glenrowan has become a legendary episode in Australian history Fully illustrated with some rare period photographs this is the fascinating story of Australia s most infamous outlaws and the men tasked with tracking them down

The Family Among the Australian Aborigines: A Sociological Study Bronislaw Malinowski,2020-09-28 The problem of the social forms of family life still presents some obscurities What appears to be most urgently needed is a careful investigation of facts in all the different ethnographical areas I propose in this study to undertake this task for Australia I shall avoid making any hypothetical assumptions or discussing general problems which refer to the origin or evolution of the family I wish only to describe in correct terms and as thoroughly as possible all that refers to actual family life in Australia In other words I intend to give in outline the social morphology of the Australian family It may be well to show briefly the necessity for this task which to some may appear superfluous and to indicate the lines on which it will be attempted In the first place there are some contradictions with regard to the problem of relationship or kinship in Australia which can be reduced to the question Is kinship in Australia exclusively individual or is it exclusively group kinship or tribal kinship as it often is called and further do these two forms exclude each other or do they perhaps exist side by side When Howitt says The social unit is not the individual but the group the former merely takes the relationships of his group which are of group to group this obviously means that there is no individual relationship consequently no individual family in Australia It is important to note that the passage just quoted is placed in the chapter on Relationship in Howitt s chief work on Australia and that consequently it refers to all the tribes described by the author i e to the majority of the known Australian tribes The same opinion that there is only group relationship and no individual family is supported by another passage no less important and general for it is placed at the conclusion of Howitt s article on the organization of the Australian tribes in general It has been shown that the fundamental idea in the conception of an Australian community is its division into two groups The relationships which obtain between the members of them are also those of group to group And again The unit of aboriginal society is therefore not the individual but the group It is the group which marries the group and which begets the group There are also a few passages in Spencer and Gillen which deny the existence of the individual family at least in some tribes
