Information Structure and Reference Tracking in Complex Sentences Rik van Gijn, Jeremy Hammond, Dejan Mati?, Saskia van Putten, Ana Vilacy Galucio, 2014-03-15 This volume is dedicated to exploring the crossroads where complex sentences and information management more specifically information structure and reference tracking come together Complex sentences are a highly relevant but understudied domain for studying notions of IS and RT On the one hand a complex sentence can be studied as a mini unit of discourse consisting of two or more elements describing events situations or processes with its own internal information structural and referential organization On the other hand complex sentences can be studied as parts of larger discourse structures such as narratives or conversations in terms of how their information structural characteristics relate to this wider context The book offers new perspectives for the study of the interaction between complex sentences and information management and moreover adds typological breadth by focusing on lesser studied languages from several parts of the world The Syntax, Semantics and Pragmatics of Spanish Mood Henk Haverkate, 2002 This study provides a consistent description and explanation of the syntax the semantics and the pragmatics of Spanish mood A major focus of attention is the central role of the truthfunctional categories of realis potentialis and irrealis as parameters relevant to mood selection in both subordinate and non subordinate clauses Furthermore a proposal is offered for a new typology of clause embedding predicates The framework chosen stems from the insight that complement taking predicates share the property of providing information on the set of mental processes which characterize intentional human behavior At the level of pragmatic analysis mood selection is examined from a variety of angles Thus specific research is conducted within the framework of speech act theory relevance theory politeness theory and the theory of Gricean maxims

Reduced Parenthetical Clauses as Mitigators Stefan Schneider, 2007-02-01 While parentheticals attract constant attention they very rarely constitute the main subject of monographs This book provides a comprehensive account of reduced parenthetical clauses RPCs in three Romance languages Typical French RPCs are je crois disons je dirais je pense je sais pas and je trouve The research draws on 22 corpora of spoken French Italian and Spanish comprising a total amount of 3 975 500 words Its results consist in a typology of the relevant expressions in the three languages in the understanding of their pragmatic function and of the factors influencing their use and in the description of their syntactic and prosodic properties Other findings are that RPCs are not restricted to statements but also occur in questions and that belief verbs are not as frequent as commonly assumed Although the book is about Romance parentheticals its conclusions are relevant for other languages
