withdrawal of commercial journalism from local communities at the beginning of the 21st century Hyperlocal Journalism critically explores the development of citizen led community news operations The book draws together a wide range of original research by way of case studies interviews and industry and policy analysis to give a complete view of what is happening to communities as their local newspapers close or go into decline to be replaced by emerging forms of digital news provision This study takes the United Kingdom as its focus but its findings speak to common issues found in local media systems in other Western democracies The authors investigate who is producing hyperlocal news and why as well as production practices models of community and participatory journalism and the economics of hyperlocal operations Looking holistically at hyperlocal news Hyperlocal Journalism paints a vivid picture of citizens creating their own news services via social media and on free blogging platforms to hold power to account redress negative reputational geographies and to tell
